BAIL OR JAIL?

Bondmen's Occupation Under Fire

By STEPHEN COOK

(First of three articles)

On a Friday night at Marin County's jail, Joe Pecora and others of his profession have the power to grant a man freedom or condemn him to the pure misery of a weekend in jail.

Pecora, easily distinguished at the courthouse by the angle of his ever-present cigar, is a bail bondsman, a man whose livelihood depends on quick, accurate assessment of another man's character.

Though he sees himself as an arm of the court and a savior to the man in trouble with the law, Pecora does not brag about the way he makes his living.

"I don't like to tell people I'm a bail bondsman. It has an ugly connotation for some," he said. "Actually, we're not evil. We're just like morticians. You don't think about us until something happens and you need our services."

Sitting in his two-desk office across the street from the jailhouse, Pecora drew easily on his long, thin cigar and announced that, after 10 years as a bail bondsman, he is looking for another business.

If he quits, though, it will not be because of the profession's image. What worries Pecora is bail reform and the loss of income which would accompany it.

The bail bondsman is

Transit District Joins Ferry Study

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A major step toward a study of the feasibility of a ferry system between Marin and San Francisco was taken last night by Marin Transit District directors in a unanimous vote to approve a joint powers agreement with the City of San Francisco. (See also transit district story, page 10.)

The agreement states its purpose is "to prepare a comprehensive study and report of the feasibility of a high-speed, modern passenger ferry service between appropriate termini in San Francisco and Marin to provide substantial relief to commuter traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge at the earliest possible date."

It provides for creation of a Ferry Feasibility Study Committee, to consist of nine members, three from Marin and six from San Francisco. The apportionment is based on the two-to-one ratio of the financing of the study.

Marin Transit District directors previously voted to spend $15,000 for the study, and San Francisco supervisors voted $30,000.

Despite Marin's smaller vote on the committee, noted Marin County Council Douglas J. Maloney, Marin has an effective veto over the committee's business because both the transit district and the city "retain the right to approve the scope of the Executive States Greyhound Stand

Greyhound Bus Lines last night shot down the last illusion held by some Marin Transit District directors that it has any interest in its commuter service —except to eliminate it.

The company's top executive also said it will seek another fare hike.

The president of the company's western division, Frank L. Nageotte, made it clear that the only cooperation it would offer the district would be to unload its commuter operation on the district.

"I just don't think you're going to be successful in anything short of a public system," said Nageotte, stressing that a public system would have to be subsidized.

"You cannot operate a commuter service from the fare box," he declared.

Nageotte's appearance had been requested by district directors after they voted April 23 to give their manager, Seymour Kashin, "top priority to improving Greyhound bus service."

Greyhound had made it clear for years that it wanted only to abandon its commute operations in the Bay Area, but Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen still maintained that Greyhound was willing to improve its service. Supervisor John F. McInnis, at the transit district's April 23 meeting, declared he had been

World Leaders Join In Mourning Tragedy; Pope Leads Churchmen

LONDON (AP) — The world reacted today with grief and horror at the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and its disappointment in and concern for the United States.

People for whom the Kennedy name meant America wept. In Dublin, Mary Ryan, a nurse, and a cousin of the senator, broke down and sobbed bitterly. In Saigon, 2nd Lt. Lawrence Patch of Topeka, Kan., said: "It was a horrible tragedy. But it has more meaning for us serving over here than for those back in the States."

Chiefs of state and government leaders around the world joined in mourning. Queen Elizabeth II, President Charles de Gaulle, Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Italian President Giuseppe Saragat were among the first to send messages of condolence.

De Gaulle dispatched messages to President Johnson and Mrs. Kennedy. His telegram to the senator's widow said: "I learn with great grief of the death of Sen. Kennedy. France shares the pain of a family so cruelly stricken. My wife joins me in praying that you realize our profound sympathy."

In Ireland, churches were filled and flags lowered to half staff, as they were in Bonn, capital of West Germany. Israelis clustered around every available radio in coffee houses and on the streets of Tel Aviv. Italian newspapers appeared with headlines saying only: "He's dead."

The Arab world deplored the assassination, but the opinion was widely expressed that he died because of American policy in the Middle East, which the Arabs consider pro-Israeli.

Pope Paul VI was told of the death of the noted member of his Roman Catholic flock as he discussed church business with a group of prelates in his Vatican apartment. He halted the meeting immediately, and the

Kennedy Dies, Funeral Is Set; National Mourning Declared

Flags At Half Staff In Nation

COMBINED AP & UPI

President Johnson today declared Sunday a national day of mourning for Robert F. Kennedy and ordered the U.S. flag lowered to half staff in memoriam to the slain senator.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., whose own husband was assassinated just over two months ago, and who flew to Los Angeles to comfort Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, perhaps best expressed the grief of a nation:

"How many husbands, how many fathers and how many sons must die before we as men, women, youths and children —before we as a nation —will rise up in righteous indignation and demand an end to senseless violence?"

The president, in an early morning statement, declared: "This is a time of tragedy and loss. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is dead.

AFFIRMED FAITH

"Robert Kennedy affirmed this country — affirmed the essential decency of its people, their longing for peace, their desire to improve conditions of life for all."

"During his life, he knew far more than his share of personal tragedy.

In Sacramento, Gov. Ronald Reagan declared a state of mourning for California. "I have directed that the period extend through the senator's funeral and that all flags in California be flown at half staff," he said.

'SENSELESS DEATH'

Reagan said, "The tragic senseless death of Sen. Kennedy affects all Californians and all Americans. My sympathies go out to Mrs. Kennedy and the senator's children as well as his parents and other members of his family.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, issued the following statement today: "Senator Kennedy was one of the great leaders of our nation. He was a vital and vibrant human being, in a vital and vibrant age. He was of this age, and of this generation, and will be remembered as such. In a nation in search of leadership, all of us must seek and find that leadership, and help bring confidence to our nation, and to the world."

McCARTHY MOURNS

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who campaigned against Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination, said "words can do little to ease the anguish of the family of Sen. Robert Kennedy or the grief of all those who loved him.

"Let us seek to comfort them by our quiet mourning, our rejection of violence and reprisal, and by offering renewed dedication to the cause

A FATAL CORNER

Death Leaves Hole In Road To Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's death has removed in a tragic manner the chief challenger to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

With the New York senator's death, the fateful 1968 election year turned a fatal corner and left what many observers see as an uneven race between Humphrey and his fellow Minnesotan, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Although the Humphrey name has not appeared on any primary ballots, he claims to have built up a long lead by picking up delegates in the tough backstage battles in the nonprimary states while Kennedy and McCarthy were battling it out in primaries.

Many observers felt only the Kennedy mystique and dash could overcome Humphrey's strong base of Democratic "establishment" support among party leaders and labor unions.

After the Kennedy shooting, a strategist said, Humphrey aides sent appeals to supporters asking that planned caucuses of Ohio and Michigan delegations, where the vice president hoped to nail down more support, be postponed.

McCarthy, returning to Washington last night, said he would confer with President Johnson and the vice president "before taking on other political activities of any kind."

Kennedy's death came at a critical turning point in the preconvention campaign.

With their primary showdowns concluded, Kennedy and McCarthy were preparing to wrestle Humphrey for votes in states that pick their delegates in caucuses and conventions—or by non-binding primaries.

After his victories Tuesday in the California and South Dakota primaries—which he had proclaimed only moments before being shot—Kennedy had 274½ votes in the Associated Press tabulation of Democratic National Convention delegates already selected. Humphrey has 308½ and McCarthy 234½ in the AP tabulation.

Humphrey has said he has more than 600 pledged delegates. But he has also said it would be insulting to the delegates to claim he had the convention locked up.

Kennedy's death is expected to swing most of those party leaders—like Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley—who had not

Assassin's Bullets Fatal To Senator

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is dead, victim of an assassin's bullet just as his brother perished.

Struck down at the brightest moment of his own try for the White House, the 42-year-old Kennedy died at 1:44 a.m. (PDT) today in Good Samaritan Hospital.

The senator will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery, beside the late President John F. Kennedy who was killed by a sniper in Dallas four and a half years ago.

Kennedy's body will lie in state at St. Patrick's Cathedral tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. A requiem mass is planned at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Patrick's after which the body will be placed aboard a train for Washington. (See illustrated Kennedy biography, page 30 and other related stories, pages 12 and 13.)

Murder charges were expected to be filed during the day against the accused gunman, Sirhan Bashira Sirhan, the Jordanian immigrant seized moments after Kennedy fell with a bullet in his brain.

President Johnson put at the family's disposal a presidential jet to fly the body, Kennedy's widow, Ethel, three of his children and 71 friends and staff to New York in mid-day.

AT HIS SIDE

Ethel, mother of their 10 children and expecting an 11th in January, was at her husband's bedside when he died. A close friend said she was "bearing up very well."

Among the others gathered in the fifth floor intensive care unit was Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of the late president.

The senator was the third of four brothers of the ill-starred family to die a violent death. Only the youngest, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, is left to carry the banner of the Kennedy clan.

WORLD MOURNS

Messages of condolence flowed in from the world's great and the humble. Among those going back on the plane was the widow of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The departure from Los Angeles was postponed from morning to 1 p.m. (PDT) while doctors performed an autopsy on the body. The autopsy, to formally establish the cause of death, was required before the body could be removed from Los Angeles County.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the slain Senator, and his bedridden father were informed of his death this morning. After and early morning mass at Hyannis Port, Mass., she flew to New York to await the return of the plane carrying the body from Los Angeles.

'TIME OF LOSS'

The senator died a little more than 25 hours after he was shot down in the kitchen corridor of a hotel where he had jubilantly proclaimed victory in Tuesday's California primary election. The win in the nation's biggest presidential preference vote was the zenith of Kennedy's march toward the White House.

Kennedy was the same age as his brother was when he Sub Called Lost; Charts At Fault?

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The U. S. Navy today ordered its ships around the world to fly the American flag at half-staff "in honor of those gallant officers and men lost while serving their country in the USS Scorpion."

The nuclear-submarine Scorpion, with 99 men aboard, vanished while making an underwater crossing of the Atlantic between the Azores and Norfolk. It may have been the victim of inaccurate charts.

This was the theory developed at a formal inquiry here by Cmdr. George R. Parish Wednesday as Navy officials in Washington sorrowfully removed the Scorpion from the "missing" list and pronounced it "lost in the depths of the Atlantic."

The sea and air search continued despite the ship's listing as lost.

Cmdr. Parish, a Norfolk operations officer, pictured the Scorpion as being off course in an area of inaccurately charted undersea mountains south of the Azores when last heard from.

That was May 21 when the Scorpion had just begun a "routine" Atlantic crossing following Mediterranean naval maneuvers. Parish testified that on that date, while near-surfaced at periscope depth for a three-hour radio message exchange, the Scorpion reported itself 27 miles off course and 40 miles behind schedule in its 2,400-mile Atlantic crossing to Norfolk.

The Scorpion normally would try to get back on schedule and continue its intended journey in radio silence, totally submerged.

But it was brought out that charts of the area show an array of "sea mounts" as vast as mountain ranges on the world's continents.

Parish said search vessels in the area reported their soundings did not coinincide with the ocean-bottom contours shown on navy charts.

U.S. Reports Worst Week For Casualties

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States last week suffered 4,308 Vietnam War casualties, including both dead and wounded, the greatest number for any week of the war, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Many of them fell in fighting in and around Saigon where government troops today crushed the last remaining major pockets of Viet Cong resistance, killing 167 Communists. Allied forces continued to guard against several more Communist battalions which U.S. intelligence sources said were attempting to infiltrate the capital.

The casualty total last week included 438 Americans killed and 3,870 wounded, the spokesmen said. The previous high figure had been in the week ended March 30 when 330 Americans were killed and 3,886 were wounded. The highest one-week U.S. death toll was 543 in the week ended Feb. 17.

Last week South Vietnamese government forces reported 345 men killed and 1,163 wounded.

Communist losses during the period were put at 3,237 men killed, the officials said.

The total number of U.S. dead and wounded in Vietnam climbed to 174,597, surpassing the 172,000 suffered by the French in the Indochina War. The U.S. total included 24,364 dead and 150,233 wounded.

Maj. Arley Harper of Kansas City, Mo., an advisor to South Vietnamese Rangers fighting in Saigon's Chinatown district, said today "there are still Viet Cong in two or three isolated pockets, but it is just a matter of time before we police up the area." In the Gia Dinh suburb, another center of the Saigon fighting, South Vietnamese Marine Maj. Phan Van Thang said the remaining Viet Cong "are trying to get out."

In the air war U.S. fighter-bombers hit supply boats, bridges and warehouses during 130 missions flown yesterday.

For the fifth night yesterday Viet Cong mortar and rockets raked Saigon, killing six Vietnamese civilians and wounding 10 others, the spokesmen said.

Churchill's Only Son Dead At 57

LONDON (AP) — Randolph Churchill, only son of the late Sir Winston Churchill, died early today. He was 57.

Randolph Churchill, who was engaged in writing a series of volumes about his father's life —a task he had not completed— had been reported not well for some time.

He was twice married but both marriages ended in divorce. He leaves one daughter, Arabella, and a son, Winston.

His mother, Lady Spencer Churchill, is serving as a member of the House of Lords, having been created a baroness after the death of Sir Winston.

Cause of death was not stated. A statement from his son said: "Mr. Randolph Churchill died peacefully at his home in Suffolk in the early hours of this morning after a short illness. The funeral will be private. Arrangements for a memorial service will be announced later."

Politically, Randolph Churchill was a failure, but a failure so complete that there was a magnificence about it.

Handsome, brilliant, well-tailored, witty and owning the magical name of Churchill, he left Oxford as a young man amid confident predictions that he would one day become prime minister.

The closest he ever got to prime minister was his physical proximity to his father, Britain's wartime leader.

Everytime he ran for office against opposition, starting in 1935, he was defeated.

Under a wartime electoral truce he was elected—unopposed. But he did not spend the war years in Parliament.

He fought with distinction in the war.

Back in Britain, his constituency at Preston threw him out in 1945.

Paris Talks Showing No New Gains

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam and the United States remained far apart today on steps to end the Vietnam War. Their failure to make progress raised prospects the negotiations may stretch on for many months.

Both sides refused to unbend yesterday at session seven of their preliminary talks, which opened May 13 and are designed to work out agreements that will reduce the fighting and allow the scheduling of full-scale negotiations.

The United States added a new dimension to the talks yesterday by demanding Hanoi discuss the presence of North Vietnamese troops in Laos. The North Vietnamese continued to insist the Americans stop all bombing of the north before the scope of the talks is broadened.

The negotiators decided to wait until Wednesday before holding their eighth meeting. There were no prospects of private contacts between the sessions. Diplomatic observers compared the slow pace to that of Korean War negotiations which stretched over two years.

U.N. Tribute To Kennedy

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The U.N. Security Council today turned its attention back to the Middle East crisis with planned debate that was delayed yesterday in an unprecedented gesture of respect for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Despite urgent requests by both Jordan and Israel for debate on Tuesday's clashes along the Jordan River the council approved an Arab delegate's suggestion of adjournment to honor the fatally wounded senator, whose alleged assailant has been identified as a Jordanian.

In Jerusalem, Arabs marked the anniversary of the June 5-10 Middle East war with demonstrations in sectors of the old city captured by Israel in the war. At least two Israeli policemen were hurt and 20 demonstrators were arrested, authorities said.

Arabs demonstrated against Israel in other Middle Eastern capitals and their leaders promised eventual victory against the Israelis. President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt said his army has been rebuilt and Egypt will overcome an Israel that is "drunk with power."

Mideast Gunfire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Machine gunners exchanged fire briefly today between Israeli and Jordanian positions south of the Sea of Galilee, in the general area that was the scene of a heavy engagement Tuesday. Each side blamed the other.

Jordan's army charged in a communique broadcast from Amman that Israelis started the fight by shooting at Jordanian forces stationed in Addassia. It said there were no Jordanian casualties.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli army said Jordanian machine guns wounded two farmers as they were working in a field north of the Beisan Valley and the Israelis returned the fire.

Paris Reviving

PARIS (UPI) — Trains and subways rolled again and buses returned to Paris streets today to set the wheels of the strikebound French economy turning slowly after 19 days of the most disastrous tieup in the nation's history.

Unofficially it was estimated that by the end of the day perhaps two-thirds of the 10 million strikers would be back on the job.

Long distance and commuter train services resumed slowly starting about 7 a.m. Paris time. The first subway trains rolled about an hour later. Buses joined private vehicles in traffic-clogged streets.

Rafferty Says Good Fighter Needed In D.C.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's schoolmaster, Max Rafferty, is an outspoken patriot, a believer in morality and — most of all — a fighter.

"The man we send to Washington must be a fighter, for fight he must," said Rafferty, a waspish man who racked up a stunning upset of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in Tuesday's California Republican primary.

"He must believe in morality," Rafferty said, "in love of country, in support of the Constitution and, above all, must have the ability to stand up and fight for what is right."

But Rafferty is not only a stern moralist. He has a pretty sharp wit.

When he opened his campaign for Kuchel's Senate seat last February, he promised, "I will not go to Vietnam."

Kuchel, assistant GOP Senate leader, had been there the year before.

Rafferty, a 51-year-old six footer, was elected state superintendent of public instruction in 1962 after promising voters to return to basic reading, writing, arithmetic and patriotism. Many of his plans were thwarted by a Democratic-controlled state Board of Education.

But the former Mojave Desert schoolteacher was re-elected in 1966 by two million votes, double Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's winning margin.

Rafferty's strength in Tuesday's election in which he edged Kuchel by 71,000 votes, flowed from Los Angeles and Orange counties.

"I will never vote for higher taxes in Washington," he told supporters.

He promised to vote against foreign aid that gives "billions and billions of dollars overseas to dictators who hate us."

Rafferty criticized judges who "coddle criminals" and declared he couldn't have voted for any justice of the Supreme Court in the past generation.

Rafferty contended that Kuchel voted more with President Johnson's administration than with Senate Republicans.

Children's Toy Found A Hazard By Firefighters

Tamalpais district firemen found an educational toy yesterday which they said is a fire hazard.

The toy is a wooden stool with a high-powered magnifying glass built into the seat.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Georgina Noren of 616 Glenwood Court, Tamalpais Valley, called firemen to her home to show damage caused by the glass. One of her children had left the stool near a window and it ignited a part of the carpet.

A fireman who tested the burning glass outside burned through a matchbook cover in three seconds.

The toy, manufactured by Creative Playthings, Inc., of Princeton, N. J., bears a warning on the underside which says "this lens is in focus. Do not leave in direct sunlight."

Tamalpais firemen took the stool to a fire safety meeting in Mill Valley this morning to demonstrate the danger to other departments.

Among buildings that will be razed are a drug store at 999 Drake, homes from 1006 to 1010 Drake, and buildings between 940 and 958 Drake boulevard including a music store, a real estate office, an insurance agency and apartments.

Kenndy Dies; Rites Will Be Saturday In New York

campaigned successfully for the presidency eight years ago, and he was a member of the cabinet when John F. Kennedy was slain in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

Proclaiming this "a time of tragedy and loss," President Johnson declared Sunday a national day of mourning for the slain senator.

Kennedy's widow, Ethel, faced the tragedy with the same stoic courage that bore Jacqueline Kennedy through the cruel days following the assassination of the president in 1963.

Three of the senator's eldest children were flown to Kennedy's bedside in a presidential jet from their Virginia home. They arrived at the hospital about two hours before their father's death in the fifth floor intensive care unit.

Pierre Salinger, who had served as press aide to the late President Kennedy and was active in the senator's campaign, announced the funeral plans.

Kennedy suffered irreparable brain damage from a .22-caliber bullet that lodged in his midbrain. The bullet coursed upward from the side of his head near his ear.

A second shot struck him in the shoulder and within seconds he lapsed into unconsciousness on the concrete floor in the hotel kitchen. His suspected assassin was subdued quickly by Kennedy aides but not before five other persons were wounded, one seriously.

Sirhan, 24, was held under tight security guard today in Los Angeles County jail five miles from the hospital where Kennedy died. It was not disclosed whether Sirhan was informed immediately of the senator's death.

A team of six neuro-surgeons picked all but a tiny fragment of the bullet from Kennedy's brain in a four-hour operation. But, the senator's condition changed little through the day and night until he finally succumbed.

"He was not able to build back up tissue after the trauma of last night and the surgery this morning," said Frank Mankiewicz, Kennedy's press secretary who made the official death announcement.

Kennedy's son, Joseph, 16, was at his bedside with his mother and aunt.

Joseph, named for Kennedy's father and the senator's eldest brother who was killed in a plane crash in Europe during World War II, informed the two other children, Kathleen, 17, and Robert Jr., 13, who were elsewhere in the hospital.

Also at the bedside was Kennedy's brother, Edward; his sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Patricia Lawford, and his brother-in-law and campaign manager, Stephen Smith, and Msgr. William McCormack of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

When asked for the exact cause of death, Mankiewicz replied: "I don't want to talk about that."

Salinger later reported legal requirements "have been met" for transfer of the body. When asked if a post mortem had been performed, Salinger said he would "not go into specifics."

The announcement of the senator's death came as most of the city's residents were asleep.

Greyhound Unwilling To Improve Services

trying for eight months to get Kashin to work with Greyhound.

"I'm kind of at a loss that there has been any misunderstanding on our position," Nageotte told the directors. "Our cup of tea is long-haul transportation," he said.

Even if the California Public Utilities Commission approves Greyhound's application for a 40 to 70 per cent hike in commute fares, said Nageotte, the company still would lose money on its commute operations.

The cost of Greyhound's proposed contract with its drivers' union, he said, "will more than wipe out any black ink we might have." The new contract has been submitted by the Amalgamated Transit Union to its members for ratification.

"We intend immediately to go to the PUC to get some relief," said Nageotte. "Our situation is critical," he said.

A spokesman for the utilities commission however, said the commission probably would defer any such move by Greyhound until commissioners act on Greyhound's pending application. Action is expected in three to four weeks, he said.

Greyhound has claimed it lost $271,000 in 1967 on its Marin operation, but a consultant to Marin Transit District figured the loss at $111,918.

"Our service is as good as any we are aware of, or better," commented Nageotte.

Responding to a suggestion that the Alameda-Contra Costa County Transit District may be able to extend its service to Marin, Nageotte noted that the East Bay district "is quite heavily funded from tax sources."

A public transit system, conceded Kettenhofen, would not be feasible in Marin without a subsidy from the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Asked if the transit district could contract with Greyhound for commute service, Nageotte said "any service you'd be likely to contract for would cost you more than a public system."

A public system might be able to operate with lower labor costs than Greyhound, he said, because its labor contracts could be tailored to commute operations. Greyhound's contracts are tailored to long-haul operations, not commute runs, he said.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, however, said he "would not be overly optimistic about being able to negotiate a more advantageous contract than Greyhound."

Asked if Greyhound would be willing to improve its service along Highway 101 if Marin Transit District took over the intra-county service, Nageotte said Greyhound might favor such a step, "but only if it were the beginning of a phase-out by Greyhound, otherwise you're asking us to increase our loses."

Each bus added to its commute service, said Nageotte, increases Greyhound's loss, "even if solidly loaded."

Marin Transit District "probably could hold Greyhound's feet to the fire for a while longer," said Nageotte, "but we'd like to get out."

study and the right to approve the consultant contract."

The committee is to select and retain a consultant to make the study.

The joint powers agreement is before the San Francisco supervisors's finance committee, and probably will be acted upon within three weeks, said Seymour Kashin, manager of the transit district.

Transit district directors deferred to July 10 selection of their three representatives on the study committee, but director Dean N. Meyer, mayor of Mill Valley, suggested the three be Supervisor Thomas T. Storer and Harlan Soeten of Mill Valley, both strong advocates of water transportation, and Kashin.

It's been 40 years since the last new ferry system started in this nation, Kashin commented, "so the expertise may have been somewhat diminished over those years, and we'll have to be extremely careful in our selection of a consultant."

prelates prayed with him for Kennedy's soul.

The Pope was expected to say a Mass for Kennedy tomorrow.

Speaking for both the Church of England and for himself personally, the Archbishop of Canterbury expressed grief and horror over the death of the senator.

"I am grieved beyond words at this further tragedy for the Kennedy family and for the whole American people," said the archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey.

Immediate tributes to the slain senator came from prominent Britons.

"I appreciated his work and his progressive views," said Lord Butler, former Conservative foreign secretary. "He was easy to deal with as he was so quick and receptive to all points of view. I am deeply sympathetic with his wife and family."

World Bank President Robert S. McNamara, a close friend of the Kennedys and a fellow Cabinet member in President John F. Kennedy's administration, made plans to return to the United States from Germany immediately. He and his wife had just arrived in Frankfurt, en route to Indonesia.

McNamara said Kennedy was "one of the wisest, most intelligent, most energetic and most compassionate political leaders in the Western world. It is a tragedy that he should be struck down in the prime of life."

He added that he prayed the shooting "will shock our people into a realization that they must act to cure the ills that have brought the tensions to our society."

of peace and reconciliation which Robert Kennedy served."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, expressed a "profound personal loss" at Kennedy's death and called on all Americans to recommit themselves to the principles of humanity and individual justice.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in a statement in New York that Kennedy's death "is a terrible tragedy both for a family and a nation which have known too many such tragedies in recent times."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said the death of Kennedy was "an unspeakable tragedy and a terrible loss to the nation.

Rockefeller proclaimed "the day of burial as a day of mourning in this state." He declined to comment on naming a successor to the late senator.

Linking Kennedy's assassination to an "intolerance which seems to permeate our society," Supervisor Thomas T. Storer today said that "this country should draw itself up short now and look at itself in the mirror."

He called for an end to what he considered was America's "special, vicarious delight in the violence that can be found in movies, books and on television."

"We can enact laws to control guns and I favor this," Storer added, "but we must learn to be tolerant of each other's beliefs."

New York is still the nation's melting pot. Almost half the city's residents were born abroad or are first-generation immigrants.

Mountanos Ends Probe On Death Gun

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos today said investigation in Marin County relating to the gun which killed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has been concluded. (See gun photo on page 13.)

He said the explanation of Mrs. Robert F. Westlake of Woodacre that she gave the .22 caliber Iver Johnson Cadet pistol to a neighbor in Pasadena last fall prior to moving to Marin County has been forwarded to the Los Angeles police department.

No further action is anticipated here, the sheriff added.

The revolver was traced to Mrs. Westlake through its registration. It originally was sold to her father, Albert L. Hertz. Official records show the gun was bought by Hertz, 72, of Alhambra, for home protection in August of 1965 during the Watts riots.

Mrs. Westlake said her father gave the weapon to her while she lived in Pasadena last fall. She said she gave it to a neighbor there, George Charles Erhard, 18, because he was a gun collector and because she didn't want the weapon around her two small children.

Los Angeles Police Chief Tom Reddin said Erhard told officers that following his acquisition of the weapon, he sold it "to a bushy-haired guy named Joe." Officers later identified the buyer as Munir Sirhan, brother of the accused assailant, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, a native of Jordan.

"Joe" Sirhan told police he had no idea how the weapon fell into his brother's hands, officers added.

The eight-shot gun was wrested early Wednesday from Sirhan Bishara Sirhan at the scene of the Los Angeles shootings.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Leydecker Gets Delegate Post; Two Registrations

Marin banker Byron W. Leydecker, elected Tuesday as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention from Napa County, is registered to vote in Marin and Napa counties, records in both counties show.

Registering in one county without filling out an affidavit cancelling registration in another county is a felony and carries either a fine or a jail term, or both, if convicted.

Napa County District Attorney Joseph D. Boitano, reportedly investigating Leydecker's registration, declined comment.

Leydecker, president of the Redwood National Bank and former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, lives in Sausalito. But he said recently he also has lived in the City of Napa more than a year at the home of a senior vice president of his bank.

Leydecker's Napa County registration is dated March 18. At that time, he would have been required to complete a form, which the registration clerk is compelled to supply, saying that he also was a registered voter in Marin County.

The form would have served to cancel Leydecker's Marin registration, but no such form was ever received in his office, John F. Musser, clerk of elections in Marin, said yesterday.

Leydecker did not vote in Marin Tuesday.

The banker was among 172 delegates on a slate loyal to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who won the Democratic primary Tuesday only to be shot at a Los Angeles victory party. Kennedy died this morning.

When his Napa County registration was revealed in March, Leydecker denied politics was involved. The former supervisor was among several prominent Marin Democrats who had re-registered out of the county.

This made it possible for the Kennedy forces to include key Marin fund raisers without eliminating prominent Kennedy supporters in San Francisco. Leydecker and the others who went to other counties to register were in the Sixth Congressional District, which includes part of San Francisco.

Leydecker could not be reached for comment today on his dual registration. Records in Musser's office show Leydecker has been a registered voter in Marin since 1963.

Meanwhile today in a related matter, the Senate in a rare break with tradition when one of its members dies, met to authorize Secret Service protection for major presidential candidates.

Following Kennedy's shooting, President Johnson ordered Secret Service protection for all major candidates.

Sen. Mike Mansfield said, however, the agents guarding the candidates are technically "acting without any authority" until the legislation is approved.

He said the Senate would adjourn tomorrow and that a sizeable delegation of senators would fly to New York for the funeral.

Supervisors Plan Bolinas Work Session

Marin County Supervisors plan a workshop session with commissioners of the Bolinas Harbor District on June 14 and intend to be there armed with a resolution aimed at putting the horbor district out of business.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr was prepared to introduce a resolution yesterday asking the Local Agency Formation Commission to begin proceedings to dissolve the harbor district and place control of the Bolinas Lagoon in the hands of the board of supervisors.

He withheld the resolution, however, commenting that the supervisors would be accused of being arbitrary if they voted it. Instead, the supervisors set 8 p.m. June 14 for a meeting on their jurisdictional dispute with the harbor district.

The workshop will be a regular meeting of the supervisors, however, and Behr will again have the resolution to abolish the harbor district in his pocket.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, stinging at an election eve potshot fired at him in a harbor district newsletter, wanted Behr to go ahead and introduce the resolution yesterday.

"I'm ready to vote for it," said Storer. "There has been nothing but haggling with the Bolinas Harbor District. They have too much power over too priceless an asset and they represent too narrow a constituency." Storer said the county could operate the harbor district for less money.

The harbor district gave every indication that it will not be put out of business peacefully. The district's planning consultant, Norman T. Gilroy, said he didn't know whether it would be convenient for the commissioners to attend the workshop, which was scheduled for the supervisors' chamber at the Civic Center.

"You are creating a condition where free and equal discussion is not possible," said Gilroy.

The supervisors' feud with the harbor district commissioners goes back more than a year when conservationists fought a harbor district plan to develop Bolinas Lagoon as a boat harbor and ended by purchasing Kent Island.

The controversy was complicated last month when Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, surprised the supervisors by introducing a bill in the Legislature to extend to 1971 the state deadline given the harbor district for its improvement program at Bolinas Lagoon. The original ten years granted the district by the Legislature end this year.

McCarthy declined to drop the bill, saying it was up to the supervisors and the harbor district commissioners to resolve their differences.

The supervisors added to those differences yesterday by voting to ask the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to hold up on a permit to allow the harbor district to dredge 60,000 cubic yards from the channel in the Bolinas Lagoon. Gilroy said the dredging had nothing to do with the matters that are in dispute between the harbor district and the commissioners.

Redwood's Principal Links Closed Campus To 'Pressure Situations'

The closed campus policy at Redwood High School is causing a "pressure situation such as exists in ghettos," Principal Donald Kreps told the Larkspur City Council last night.

His advocacy of an open campus for next year greeted with resistance, however, not only from councilmen and Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark, but also from about 25 parents in the audience.

Kreps told the council that an open campus would be "good for education" because students would develop more responsibility and independence.

He added that under present rules students are more likely to rebel.

No one in the audience or on the council agreed with him, and several speakers said they felt over-permissiveness leads to rebellion.

Kreps' suggestion that the City of Larkspur become a laboratory for the school was greeted with groans of protest.

Several parents said that when they send youngsters to school they want to know they are there all day. None agreed with Kreps' premise that more freedom would make high school students more responsible, and one mother said, "My child is not ready for such freedom."

Kreps cited the students who now leave the campus for work experience programs and other such reasons, but Clark pointed out that these are not the youngsters who concern him.

Clark said that responsible students who are busy with classes and projects were not the ones who would take advantage of the open campus policy.

In answer to a question, Clark said that keeping narcotics out of the school would certainly be more of a problem with an open campus.

Kreps disagreed, however, claiming that "a closed campus attracts narcotics."

"I just cannot understand how turning kids loose for a 35-minute lunch hour is going to enhance education," Mayor Alfred J. Malvino said.

Vice Mayor Neil R. Brixon added that since the open campus policy has not been formally adopted by the Tamalpais High School District board and that the city is arranging a joint meeting between the board and the council to discuss the matter. A date has not been set yet.

In other action last night the proposed new sign ordinance was introduced, and Greenbrae developer Niels Schultz Jr. pointed out that a sign which had been granted under a variance would escape the six-year limit placed on non-conforming signs.

The council made no changes in the proposed ordinance and set July 3 for a vote on its adoption.

After the regular meeting the council met in closed session for about 45 minutes to discuss three appointments to the planning commission. City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said the council will announce its decisions at next Tuesday's meeting.

Strawberry Rec Board Votes Smaller Budget

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District last night adopted a budget of $53,830 for fiscal 1968-69.

The budget is less than last year's budget of $54,250 by $1,420, although it includes $2,380 for dredging work done last January of the Strawberry channel, in a special zone of the district. Costs of the bond payment, approved in a May, 1967 election, will be paid by residents of the special zone.

Chairman Arthur R. Senter said the board anticipates that the present tax rate of 54 cents per $100 assessed valuation will be lowered to about 50 cents.

The budget includes salaries of $8,700, with $5,500 budgeted for part-time park maintenance workers, $2,000 for swimming instructors and $1,200 for board clerk Mrs. Jean Heick.

The general maintenance figure of $8,975 includes $1,500 for resurfacing of the district's two tennis courts.

For an election of two directors in November, $500 is budgeted.

Professional service fees include $1,200 for attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann and $375 for architect J. Martin Rosse.

Capital outlay figures of $14,400 include $8,000 budgeted for architectural fees for Rosse to prepare plans and specifications for a community building to be built next year.

Chairman Senter announced he will send questionnaires to local service groups, on their needs for a community building at Strawberry Park, according to Mrs. Heick.

The board's next regular meeting will be July 3.

Mayor Cancels Marin Appearance

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco today canceled his meeting scheduled tomorrow with Pentagon officials on a $50 million antimissile base which may be built in Marin. Alioto will fly East tomorrow to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Representatives of Marin County were to have attended to seek the base for Marin, reported yesterday by Supervisor John F. McInnis to be favored by the military.

I-J Photographer's Sky Picture Honored

Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax added another to his long list of photography awards.

Hax was given an honor award in the cloud and weather photo contest conducted by the Desert Research Institute of University of Nevada. The winning picture was one of the many scenic shots by Hax that have appeared in the I-J.

Machinists Return At Koch Plant

Machinists were back on the job this morning at H. Koch and Sons of Corte Madera, one of five Marin County firms idled by a strike since Monday, as federal mediators hoped to reach agreement tomorrow on the four other disputes.

Clell E. Harris, federal mediator in San Francisco, has set a meeting at 10 a.m. at the Tiburon Lodge between California Metal Trades Association and Machinists' Union Local 238 of San Rafael. CMTA is representing metal fabricating plants: A.G. Schoonmaker, E.D. Bullard and Vincent Whitney Co., all in Sausalito, and Bergman Manufacturing Co., San Rafael.

Koch, which had negotiated directly with Local 238, has agreed to the union demands for employment conditions and an optical prescription drug benefit.

Plant Supt. Joseph Tucker said approximately 90 per cent of the 300 Koch employees had showed up for work at 8 a.m., apparently some not having received word of the back-to-work order voted by union members yesterday.

Tiburon Firemen Aid Little League Fund

Tiburon volunteer firemen's association last night decided to contribute $125 to the Tiburon Peninsula Little League.

Firemen scheduled for themselves a cleanup project of the baseball diamond at Judge Field, at 6:30 p.m. on June 13.

Novato Pastor Finds Attempt To Set Fire

An arson attempt by unknown persons caused minor damage to the Novato Community Church, 1475 South Novato Boulevard, yesterday, Novato police reported.

Ashes from the fire were discovered by Rev. Leo Hamilton, pastor, at 7:54 p.m. Police said the fire apparently had been set sometime between noon and 7:30 p.m.

The fire was started in a Sunday school classroom on the lower floor of the two story building, police reported. The arsonist set fire to a pile of pamphlets and booklets directly under a storage cabinet, apparently hoping the cabinet would catch on fire, police said.

The pamphlets and booklets had been treated with a finish that was somewhat fire resistant and did not burn hot enough to catch the cabinet police said.

Police said the arsonist apparently entered the room through a small window. Nothing was missing from the church, police said.

Car Theft Suspect Pleads Innocent

Innocent plea to a felony charge of car theft was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by William Anthony Comisky, 22, of San Francisco.

Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. June 25. Comisky is accused of stealing a Lynwood, Los Angeles County, car in Sausalito May 25.

Draft Education Group Adopts Basic Statement

In a statement of purpose adopted last night by the Marin Council for Draft Education, members said that draft education is presently inadequate and that such information should be taught in public high schools in an unbiased manner.

The group also said that draft information should be given to girls as well as boys, since they are involved in members of society in what is going on concerning the draft.

Mary Mosteller of Muir Beach, temporary chairman of the committee, said that at the next meeting, at 8 p.m. June 18 in the co-op building in Corte Madera, plans for summer research projects will be made and nominations for permanent officers will take place.

The committee has had informal talks with teachers, ministers and parents, she said, but has not yet begun to approach school administrators and trustees about making draft education available in the schools.

President Lyndon B. Johnson proposes to establish the Potomac National River to preserve the historic stream in its natural setting. He asked Congress to protect 67,000 acres on both sides of the river.

Lawmaker Says Bail System Hard On Poor

threatened with extinction by men who claim California's present system of money bail is unconstitutional.

The constitutional guideline on the subject of cash bail is found in one sentence of the Bill of Rights: "Excessive bail shall not be required."

Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael), author of an unsuccessful bail reform bill this year, says the California system of cash bail, posted through a bondsman, discriminates against the poor and may be unconstitutional.

Bagley's bill (AB 319), as first introduced, would have eliminated cash bail — and bondsmen such as Pecora from the California courtrooms.

Faced with stiff opposition from law enforcement organizations, Bagley watered down the bill until it was just policy statement, encouraging judges to release suspects without bail whenever possible.

But the California Association of Bail Agents, an organization of bondsmen, felt threatened by even this much change in the state's bail laws.

Bagley says they hired a lobbyist for $15,000 to kill the bill. The Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee responded by shelving the measure for at least another year.

Under present day California procedure, the arrested man is told the amount of his bail soon after being booked at jail. He may make two telephone calls — one to an attorney, another to a bail bondsman.

If bail on the charge he faces is $5,000, he must either post that amount in cash himself or arrange bail through a bondsman.

If Pecora or another bondsman bails him out, the cost to the prisoner is $500, 10 per cent of the amount of bail required. This is the bondsman's fee. The prisoner never gets it back, even if ultimately acquitted of the charge.

In Marin County, the prisoner has a variety of options. He or his bondsman can post bail immediately, thus saving a night or a weekend in jail.

He can wait in jail until the next court session to see if the district attorney, having read the arresting officer's report, decides to file a criminal charge.

If no charge is filed, the prisoner is freed. If he has already made bail, the judge orders the money returned. But, if, he posted bail through a bondsman, he loses the 10 per cent premium. In the case of a $5,000 bond, the bondsman will be $500 richer for the overnight use of his money.

If a charge is filed, the prisoner may petition the judge for a reduction in bail or for release without bail. The judge calls this releasing a man on his own recognizance — the OR.

If the prisoner seeks an OR, or a reduction in bail, the Marin County judge will refer him to a probation officer, who must decide if the prisoner would make his court appearances.

At a subsequent bail hearing, the probation officer reports to the judge. The prisoner's lawyer argues for the release of his client without bail or with low bail. The district attorney may ask for high bail.

If the prisoner is released without bail or makes bail, he is free to resume his normal life, as long as he keeps his court appointments, until and if he is convicted.

If he cannot raise bail or convince a judge to free him on his promise to appear, he must languish in jail until a jury determines his guilt or innocence.

Prisoners call this serving bad time. The man's life in jail will probably be worse than that of a man already convicted and sentenced. There is no assurance the pretrial jail time will be credited to the man's sentence, if he is convicted.

The men deciding if hte accused man must serve this bad time are the judge, bail bondsman and probation officer.

(Tomorrow: How do they decide who goes free and who is jailed?)

Demo Club Urges Action On Gun Ban

The Novato Democratic Club has sent a telegram to President Lyndon B. Johnson asking him to urge Congress to strengthen and adopt the proposed gun control it has under consideration.

The telegram, signed by William S. Carpenter, club president, also asked the president to appeal to the motion picture and television industries to curb their presentation of films and shows containing violence. Carpenter also asked the president to urge the press to downgrade its coverage of violent groups such as the Hells Angels and Black Panthers, according to Mrs. Bea Carpenter, his wife.

Mrs. Carpenter, who is the North Marin chairman for the Kennedy campaign, said she and other club members have contacted Republican groups in the area asking them to also send telegrams to the President. Republican and Democratic groups throughout the state will be requested to take similar action, she said.

County Building Permits Drop Below April's

Construction permits were issued last month for a total of $834,600 in buildings in the unincorporated areas of the county.

This was a big drop from the April total of $3,428,962, which included a permit for the $1.9 million veterans memorial auditorium at the Civic Center.

In May of 1967, the total valuation of building permits issued in the unincorporated areas was $998,040, slightly higher than for May this year.

The bulk of the permits last month were for single family homes, which accounted for $551,350, and just one apartment and one duplex. The rest were for small alterations and additions. No permits were issued for large commercial construction.

New Post Office Bids Opened For Corte Madera

A Los Angeles group was the apparent low bidder yesterday to lease a new main post office at 7 Pixley Avenue in Corte Madera to the U.S. Post Office Department.

The group, Joseph and Grace Penner and Selden and Norma Ring, said it would lease the building to the department at $15,760 a year for 20 years. Theirs was the lowest of 11 bids.

The successful bidder first must purchase the property and build a 6,400-square-foot post office. The real estate division of the regional office of the Post Office Department, which received the bids, has estimated the cost of construction at $150,000.

The division said a contract would be awarded within three weeks.

Tax-Budget Package Bill Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crucial House vote on the $10 billion tax increase-$6 billion spending cut package has been postponed until June 19. It had been scheduled for next Wednesday.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma made the announcement today.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee told the House he requested the postponement because it would not be possible to file the report explaining the complicated measure until next week "and I think the House should have a week to study it."

No other reason for the postponement was given. However, there have been reports of strong pressure not to have a record vote on the controversial measure until after the New York primary election for congressional and senatorial seats, which is scheduled for June 18.

Coincidentally, the new date for the House vote is the day on which the Poor People's Campaign has scheduled its mass demonstration in Washington.

Sports Car Stolen From Municipal Lot

Robert D. Dawson of Daly City told San Rafael police early today that his 1959 Triumph convertible had been taken from the municipal parking lot at Third Street and Lootens Place between 7:30 p.m. yesterday and 12:30 a.m. today.

Dawson said that the ignition in the black and yellow sports car was locked.

Marin Phone Threats To GOP Politicos

San Rafael police today were investigating threats to Gov. Ronald Reagan and Republican senatorial nominee Max Rafferty phoned in to an operator for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. at about 10 p.m. yesterday.

The operator said the man told her he would kill the governor and Rafferty. He gave her what he said was his phone number, at which point she placed his call on hold and called the number he gave her. She got a busy signal.

The operator reported the incident to Sheriff's Sgt. Edward R. Levine, who called the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San Francisco and was told that such threats violated no federal law.

The phone company revealed that the number given by the man belonged to a Terra Linda resident. San Rafael police were then notified. Inspector Thomas C. Cheetham said that he and an investigator from the state bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation would visit the Terra Linda residence this afternoon.

Cheetham noted that the busy signal did not prove that the phone number given by the threatening caller was his own.

The Brake Riders Given A Warning

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The habit of "riding" the brake pedal is becoming more common than ever because many motorists driving cars with automatic transmissions use their left foot for braking.

However, the California State Automobile Association warns drivers to keep their foot off the brake pedal except when actually using the brake. This is necessary to avoid excessive brake lining wear, high hydraulic fluid temperature and possible damage to other parts of the braking system, the association says.

Teachers Ask Pay Boosts In Sausalito

Sausalito teachers last night asked for a pay raise of 6 to 8 per cent for 1968-69. Classified (non-teaching) employees, who asked 15 per cent at the last Sausalito School District board meeting, made no new presentation last night.

The teachers also asked the district to pay for dental costs.

The board did not act on the raise requests. Assistant Supt. Joseph Amato said the district's total salary costs next year would be $902,133 at present levels and $949,855 with 6 per cent raises for both groups.

Teacher salaries would total $686,694 at the present level, $721,910 with a 6 per cent raise. Classified salaries would total $215,439 at the present level, $227,945 with a 6 per cent raise and $246,574 with a 15 per cent raise.

The board asked Amato to figure costs of an 8 per cent raise for teachers for the next meeting.

The board reviewed part of the 1968-69 budget but made no substantial changes. The proposed budget would total $1,283,555 with present pay levels, $1,331,277 with 6 per cent raises for both employee groups.

The Sausalito School District board also:

INSURANCE — Asked insurance agent Frank Klineman to bring in the amount of possible fire insurance savings if coverage were dropped on the old Bayside School building. Bayside was abandoned for classroom use this winter after an inspection proved it unsafe.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session to discuss hiring and retention of teachers and employees for next year.

MEETING — Next board meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. June 24 at the district office.

Welfare Residency Change Held Minor

Elimination of residency requirements for welfare recipients in California will not mean a flood of welfare check seekers to Marin County, three supporters of the residency elimination declared today on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board" program.

Miss Annie Jameson, a division supervisor for the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, said she's taking a "conservative, wait-and-see" attitude on the number of welfare applicants who will come to Marin now that a federal court in San Francisco has issued a temporary injuction setting aside residency duration requirements in counties.

NO TREND TO MOVE

She said it has been her experience that people do not move to an area to get on welfare. Two attorneys for the San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation, which represented the four cases — one from Marin — that resulted in the injunction, agreed with her. The attorneys, Peter Sitkin and Stephen Antler, said there has not been an influx of welfare seekers in other states where residency requirements have been eliminated.

There was no panelist on the program for the opposite view, but Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks said he believed that residency requirements eventually will be upheld as constitutional.

BAR EXAM CITED

He said that if a residency requirement is a restriction on a person's civil right to travel, California's tough bar examination could be called restrictive. "A person might not move to California to practice law for fear of being unable to pass the bar examination," said Hendricks.

Miss Jameson said she was unable to predict what the new Marin welfare costs will be, but she added another to the estimates that have been made. She said that in April there were 50 persons here who were unable to qualify for other than temporary emergency help because they hadn't been residents long enough.

She estimated the payments to them, had they been able to qualify, would have been $13,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year, of which $3,000 would have been the county's contribution. Donald Sanford, administrative deputy in the Department of Public Social Services, has estimated the additional cost will be $42,000 to $47,000 next fiscal year.

Antler said there should be national standards for welfare payments, so that there is not such a variance in the amount of the payments from one state to another.

Kitty Oppenheimer was moderator of the program, which will be rebroadcast at 10 a.m. Sunday on tape.

Trustees To Eye Attitudes Poll

Authorization of a community-school survey will be considered by the Tomales High School District Board of Trustees at 8 p.m. today at the high school.

The survey has been proposed to determine the attitudes of the community toward the school district and what the community wants of the schools, according to Supt. Anthony Matulich.

Discussion of the proposed 1968-69 district budget has been postponed because the budget is not ready to be presented to the board, Matulich said.

Church Delays Picnic In Respect To RFK

St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City has postponed a church picnic scheduled for Sunday in response to the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and President Johnson's announcement of a day of national mourning Sunday.

Sunday worship will be at the usual time this Sunday. The picnic will be held June 16 at Deer Park, Fairfax, with members meeting at the church from 9:30 to 10 a.m.

MARIN'S STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

This $5,500 exhibit will represent Marin at this year's State Fair which opens in Sacramento on July 1. The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized up to $7,500 to cover the cost of the exhibit and brochures. Bernard Seligman, chairman of the State Fair Committee of the Marin Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, said the Rudolph G. Theurkauf designing firm of Sausalito will build the exhibit. The portholes, following the theme of the Civic Center, are seven feet in diameter. Inside will be a relief model of Marin, showing various points of interest, a relief model of the Quail Hill development, and other recreational and industrial facilities in the county. The exhibit will be on display through Sept. 10.

New Sausalito Planners Elect Officer Slate

Robert L. Nissen was elected chairman of the Sausalito Planning Commission last night. Murray Smith was named vice chairman and City Clerk Miriam Ansell was named secretary.

Virginia Pasquinucci was appointed to the city underground utilities committee and Richard L. Whitaker was named to the City-County Planning Council.

The commission approved two applications: the request of Sausalito Hotel Association for a canopy over the sidewalk at the entry to the Sausalito Inn on El Portal Avenue, and the request of Wesley O. Brigham for a fence on the street right of way at 118 Spencer Street.

In a background briefing by Planning Director Charles W. Whitehead, the newly-appointed commission heard a review of the old nine-member commission's statement of policies and objectives for the proposed central waterfront plan.

Project Approved

The Air Force has authorized a $30,000 project to replace Mill Valley Air Force Station's sewage treatment and disposal system, it was reported today by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District. The funds will be released for a contract "in the near future," he said.

Storer Would Rename Gate Span After Firm In Engineering Job

The Golden Gate Bridge should be renamed the "Ammann and Whitney Memorial Bridge" to honor the New York firm that is going to do at least $1 million in engineering for the bridge and highway district, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer suggested last night.

Storer, at a meeting of Marin Transit District directors at the Civic Center, criticized the bridge district board for authorizing a $320,000 subcontract by Ammann and Whitney to repair rusted suspension cables without competitive bidding. (See other transit district stories, page 1.)

Dropping his proposed censure of the bridge board, Storer instead got a unanimous vote from the transit board endorsing legislation by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to close loopholes in the 1923 act that set up the bridge district.

The legislation would force the bridge board to go to competitive bidding on all work.

Storer's motion also commended Marin's two representatives on the bridge board, Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato and George H. Ludy of Inverness, for voting against the subcontract with U.S. Steel.

Storer also ripped into a proposed $675,000 study by Ammann and Whitney of a $12 million project to improve the toll plaza. The engineering firm would get 10 per cent of the $12 million, Storer said, bringing its fees to $2,260,000.

This figure includes $265,000 for a second deck study that was shelved by bridge directors before it was complete, $120,000 for a current inspection of the bridge, $675,000 for the proposed toll plaza study, and 10 per cent of $12 million.

"A new plaza would not help our commuters one iota," declared Storer. "It would wipe out $12 million of the reserves which could be used for mass transit," he said.

Transit district directors also invited Hardcastle and Ludy to attend their next meeting, 8 p.m. July 10 at the Civic Center, to discuss the proposed toll plaza project. Bridge district engineer Robert E. Shields is to be invited to attend and explain the value of the project.

Marin Transit District directors also.

BUDGET — Approved a tentative $649,555 budget for fiscal 1968-69 and District Mgr. Seymour Kashin's proposed work program, and set a budget hearing for 8 p.m. July 10 in the Civic Center. Directors stressed that last night's action did not commit them to approval of the tentative budget or the work program.

BRIDGE BILL — Voted unanimously to oppose legislation by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, to allow Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors to sell revenue bonds financed from tolls.

FEEDER BUSES — Heard Kashin's report that a proposed intra-county feeder bus network "would take a rather extensive market survey," and that manufacturers of mini-buses are wary of the feasibility of such service. Novato would be the best area to test such service, he said.

BUS LANE — Received a report from Kashin that a second southbound toll gate at the Golden Gate Bridge will be widened to accommodate buses "within a few weeks."

BUS STOPS — Took no action on Kashin's suggestion that the county design bigger bus stop signs so potential passengers would know the location of stops.

MARIN CITY BUS — Referred a proposal for a shuttle bus service between downtown Mill Valley and Marin City on Saturdays to Kashin, who said it "requires further investigation, particularly in that we must know how many people would want these services."

Loma Verde Benefit Carnival Postponed

Saturday's benefit carnival, sponsored by the Loma Verde Homeowners Association, has been postponed in observance of the death early today of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A new date for the carnival will be set next week, according to Mrs. Lillian Tindell, publicity chairman. The carnival had been scheduled to raise funds to purchase playground equipment.

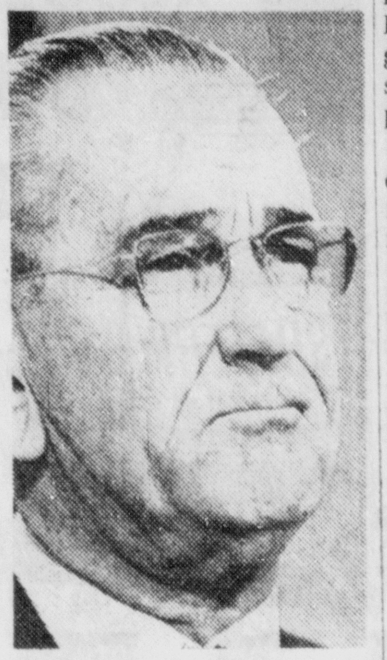
NAMES PANEL

LBJ Pleads: 'Let Us Live Under Law'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"Let us, for God's sake, resolve to live under the law."



PRESIDENT JOHNSON
As he appeared on television

With this solemn invocation to a troubled nation, President Johnson last night dispatched a select nine-member panel on the mission of seeking causes for violence of the sort that struck down Robert F. Kennedy.

In a seven and one-half minute address on nationwide television and radio, the president said:

"My fellow citizens, we cannot, we just must not, tolerate the sway of violent men among us. We must not permit men who are filled with hatred, and careless of innocent lives, to dominate our streets and fill our homes with fear.

"We cannot sanction the appeal to violence, no matter what its cause and no matter what the grievance from which it sprang... "A great nation can guarantee freedom for its people and the hope of progressive change only under the rule of law. So let us, for God's sake, resolve to live under the law."

To head the special commission, the president chose Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Other members are Archbishop Terence Cooke of New York; Albert E. Jenner Jr., a Chicago lawyer who was on the Warren Commission; Patricia Harris, former ambassador to Luxembourg; Eric Hoffer, the West Coast longshoreman - philosopher of San Francisco; Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Roman Hruska, R-Neb.; Reps. Hale Boggs, D-La., and William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, and A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., U.S. district judge for Eastern Pennsylvania and a Negro.

The president said it would be self-deceptive to ignore the connection between lawlessness and hatred and general and the shooting of Kennedy. Then he added:

"It would be just as wrong, just as self-deceptive, to conclude from this act that our country is sick, that it has lost its sense of balance, its sense of direction and common decency.

"Two hundred million Americans did not strike Robert Kennedy last night any more than they struck John F. Kennedy in 1963 or Martin Luther King in April of this year.

"But those awful events give us ample warning that in a climate of extremism, of disrespect for law, of contempt for the rights of others, violence may bring down the very best among us. A nation that tolerates violence in any form cannot expect to be able to confine it to just minor outbursts."

Reagan Links Tragedy To Timid Leaders

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan lays the blame for the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy partly on "demogogic and irresponsible words of so-called leaders in and out of public office."

But at his afternoon news conference yesterday where he made the statement, he would not elaborate on his accusation and his press secretary told newsmen, "I would rather leave it to you to interpret."

"Tragedy hangs over our state and nation and our prayers are for those who lie wounded," the Republican governor said in a statement he read to newsmen.

Americans, he said, "are victims of an attitude that has been growing in our land for nearly a decade — an attitude that says a man can choose the laws he must obey, that he can take the law into his own hands for a cause, that crime does not necessarily mean punishment."

"This attitude has been spurred by demagogic and irresponsible words of so-called leaders in and out of public office and it has been helped along by some in places of authority who are fearful of the wrong, but timid about standing for what is right.

"In doing so, they have thrown our nation into chaos and confusion and have bred a climate that permits this ultimate tragedy," Reagan said.

.The grim faced governor then concluded: "If any of you have any questions that must be answered about related matters, the press secretary will handle them."

A newsman asked Press Secretary Paul Beck, "So there is no misunderstanding, it refers to demagogic and irresponsible leaders. Can you be more specific?"

"No, I think — no I think the statement speaks for itself," Beck replied. Moments later there was this exchange between newsmen, Beck, and Reagan's communications director, Lyn Nofziger:

NEWSMAN: I think we're entitled to know who you and the governor thinks has thrown the nation into chaos and confusion.

BECK: I think we were referring to people who are doing things which reflect a lack of respect for law and order primarily."

NEWSMAN: Which so-called leaders in and out of public office, for instance, do you think fits this kind of category?

BECK: I think that would be a judgment that you fellows can make better than I.

NEWSMAN: Well, you've made the judgment and here it is . . .

BECK: I would rather leave it to you to interpret.

NOFZIGER: We're just not going to get into a position of calling names or making accusations against certain people in this country. We're not going to get in . . .

NEWSMAN: Lyn, you've already done this in the statement, you've . . .

NOFZIGER: We'll stand on the statement and we'll stand right there.

NEWSMAN: I was wondering if it refers to Kennedy himself?

NOFZIGER: You'll have to draw your own conclusions because the statement is there and we do not intend to go beyond it."

Enchanted Knolls Slate Elected

Dr. Willard H. Pennell was reelected president of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association last night for another one-year term.

The association also elected Stanyan Buckingham vice president and Mrs. Jean Bay treasurer. A secretary will be elected later.

The association board agreed to ask the Mill Valley City Council for a stricter leash law.

The board also voted to provide a permanent backstop for the baseball field adjoining Roque Moraes Drive.

KENNEDY DEATH WEAPON

This is the eight-shot, .22-caliber Iver Johnson Cadet revolver which was taken from Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. A state computer traced its ownership history, including data that it once belonged to a Woodacre resident, Mrs. Robert F. Westlake, who gave it away. It was later sold to the murder suspect's brother. (AP Wirephoto)

KENNEDY REFERENCE

Notebook From Assassin Suspect Reveals Hatreds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His name is Sirhan Bishara Sirhan.

Police say he is a cool, close-mouthed Jordanian who fired a bullet from close range into the brain of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says Sirhan apparently wrote in a 9-by-12 inch notebook about "the necessity to assassinate Sen. Kennedy before June 5, 1968."

Many — neighbors, former employers and the authorities — say he hates Jews.

He hurt his head in a fall last year, says his mother.

"All I know is he is a nice kid," says one of his four brothers.

The record says Sirhan is 24 years old, 5-feet-5, weights about 120 pounds, has a swarthy complexion and wiry hair. He has been an exercise boy at a race track, wanted to be a jockey and worked in a health food store.

He was under maximum security guard in a hospital ward at the Los Angeles County Central jail, charged with six counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

He is to appear at 8:30 a.m. Monday for a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Joan Klein.

Sirhan has talked to police, but not about Kennedy or the shooting. Officers said he was advised of his rights, but didn't want an attorney. He refused to give officers his name.

"It's nice to remain incommunicado," Inspector Pete Hagen quoted him as saying.

He "may have been inflamed" by Kennedy's call for U.S. jets for Israel during a televised campaign debate Saturday night, said a New York committee on American-Arab relations.

"He was violently pro-Jordan and anti-Israel," said John Shear, who worked with Sirhan at Hollywood Park race track. "When there was trouble between Jordan and Israel, he would become inflamed."

"Sen. Kennedy said the other day he wanted to help Israel," said Sirhan's recent employer, John H. Weidner, 57, operator of a Pasadena health food store chain.

With permission from Sirhan's family, police recovered two notebooks from his room. They contain 18 to 20 pages of handwriting. Some in Arabic, most in English.

In a notation entered either May 17 or 18, the mayor said, Sirhan apparently wrote "a direct reference to the necessity to assassinate Sen. Kennedy before June 5, 1968."

"There's much scribbling, repeated phrases, many references to Sen. Robert Kennedy, even some references to . . . Arthur Goldberg," Mayor Yorty said of the notebooks.

"My son — it can't be. No. Oh, no," cried Mary Sirhan, when she learned her boy was arrested. Mrs. Sirhan is a house keeper at a Presbyterian nursery school in Pasadena.

"Ever since he had a fall about a year ago, he hasn't been the same. I can't talk to him."

Mrs. Sirhan said her son fell from a horse and "hurt his head here." She pointed to her right temple.

Delegates Will Remain Kennedy Bloc

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 172-member delegation pledged to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will represent California at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago despite the tragic death of their candidate.

The delegation, headed by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, could throw its support to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy or some other candidate.

Kennedy, with his victory over McCarthy in Tuesday's California primary, had just about turned it into a two-man contest with Humphrey when a gunman changed everything.

Nearly complete returns showed that Kennedy rolled up 46 per cent of the vote compared with 42 per cent for McCarthy and 12 per cent for an uncommitted delegation headed by State Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

Assistant Secretary of State H.C. Sullivan explained that under California law the voters selected a slate of delegates to party conventions instead of individual presidential candidates.

Kennedy, in recent campaign speeches, had made it clear his "new politics" program was much closer to McCarthy than it was to Humphrey.

He had repeatedly urged McCarthy to join an anti-administration common front to stop Humphrey from winning the nomination. He said Sunday Humphrey represented a continuation of the policies of President Johnson and "four more years of that would be very dangerous."

$658,119 Contract Awarded To Widen South San Pedro

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael will widen South San Pedro Road in East San Rafael from Marina Boulevard to Lochinvar Road to four lanes at a cost of $658,119.

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday awarded the contract to Ghilotti Brothers, who submitted the lowest of four bids that ranged to a high of $732,063. The engineer's estimate was $688,300.

Ghilotti has six months to complete the project.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

LYNWOOD SLOUGH — Awarded a $122,566 contract to Albay Construction Co. of Concord to improve storm drain facilities along Lynwood Slough on the east side of Highway 101 about a quarter mile north of Black Point cutoff. A pump station near 101 will be relocated to Novato Creek. About 3,100 feet of Lynwood Slough will be realigned and excavated, and culverts installed. The job will take four months.

DRAKE WIDENING — Held a hearing and approved the future widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to McAllister Avenue in Kentfield. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost estimated it would cost $400,000 to acquire land from about 35 owners and about $200,000 for construction of the quarter mile stretch.

WAR ON POVERTY — Passed a resolution declaring that Marin elects not to have the State of California designated as the community action agency of the Economic Opportunity Act. Supervisors previously decided to reconstitute the Marin Economic Opportunity Council and designate it as the community action agency, with the understanding that the EOC would delegate the operation of the manpower program to the Marin Human Rights Commission and the Marin Labor Council.

LIBRARY ARCHITECT — Postponed for two weeks the selection of a committee to choose an architect for the Novato branch library.

TRANSPORTATION STUDY — Agreed that the City-County Planning Council would be the policy body to direct the balanced transportation study for the county, as recommended by Planning Director Paul C. Zucker and by the county administrator.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized an outlay of $2,795 as the county's 50 per cent matching share of the cost of landscaping improvements in the island on Alameda del Prado, Loma Verde. County Service Area No. 1 (Loma Verde) will pay the other half.

ABATEMENT — Awarded a $385 contract to Morrison Tree Experts to remove trees and shrubs from a property in Mill Valley, which is considered a fire and safety hazard. M. M. Miller, owner of the property at California Avenue and Cleveland Avenue, will be billed for the cost.

REGIONAL LIBRARIES — Approved in principle the concept of three regional libraries — the Novato library getting precedence, followed by regional libraries in Corte Madera and Fairfax. The supervisors asked the county administrator to report back on June 18 with a recommendation on how best to finance these libraries.

GARBAGE FRANCHISES — Agreed in principle to the concept of giving exclusive franchises for garbage pickup service in unincorporated areas and asked the county administrator to study such matters as compulsory pickups wherever possible and payment for garbage service by property owners instead of tenants. Assistant Administrator John F. Barrows said he would report back in about 45 days. Supervisor Thomas T. Storer urged the study, following a breakdown in garbage service in West Marin last month.

PG&E TOWERS — Put on the agenda for June 11 a decision on what to do if anything about giant towers that Pacific Gas & Electric Co. proposes across Petaluma River into Marin County. Planning Dir. Paul C. Zucker said he will present some alternatives to the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday.

Shell, Texaco Agents Hike Gas A Penny

The price of gas has gone up a penny a gallon recently at many Shell and Texaco stations in Marin County. The increase is being ascribed to several causes.

A spokesman for Texaco said the company recently increased its dealer tank wagon price on Sky Chief gas three-quarters of a cent a gallon. Charles Kreistad, West Coast public relations man for Texaco, said that for a variety of complex reasons, it was no longer possible to hold the traditional four cent spread between regular and premium gas at the existing prices.

But Shell's West Coast public relations man, James Walter, said there had been no tank wagon increase, and the retail increases were up to the individual dealers.

Whatever the cause, many Shell and Texaco customers are paying 35.9 and 38.7 for gas.

A rival dealer, a Chevron station operator, declared, "It's those damned contests. I'd like to go up a penny a gallon too."

An Oakland marketing research firm, Mardex Co., reported that retail gas prices have risen one to two cents in most Bay Area communities.

Mardex reported, "A sharp increase in operational costs for service station operators during the past year, along with increasing activity of organized labor unionizing service station attendants contributed to the increase in retail prices."

Mardex took a shot at trading stamps and give away games in its release on the price increases. "These must be paid for, and the public is the only available source to charge," said the research firm.

Way For More Fruit Producers

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Planting fruit trees in hedgerows promises to increase fruit production, a horticulturist says. Dean McCarthy, University of California Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist at Riverside, says:

"Per-acre production is dependent up to a point upon the volume of fruit-producing foliage grown on each acre. Generally, the majority of fruit is borne in the outer periphery of the tree." McCarty says that although production per tree usually decreases with hedgerows, the total yield per acre

Deer And Cattle Causing Accidents

DETROIT (UPI)—Deer and cattle on the highways are causing traffic accident problems in Canada, according to the Traffic Safety Associaton.

The organization said a report received from Ontario indicates that deer are involved in more car-animal accidents than any other animal in the province. Cattle ranked second, followed by dogs, moose, horses, bears, ponies and pigs, in that order.

Meaning Of Action Reversed By A Typo

A typographical error in Wednesday's Independent-Journal reversed the meaning of an action of the Sausalito City Council Tuesday night.

The councilmen unanimously expressed their disapproval of a bill in the Legislature which would give the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors power to issue revenue bonds. The word was misprinted as "approval."

Supervisors Side With Novato Kennel Owner

Marin County supervisors yesterday beat down a determined effort by residents of McClay Road in the Novato area to prevent the operation of a kennel at 753 McClay Road by owner Arthur M. Newman of San Rafael.

Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks reaffirmed what he had told the supervisors the previous week — that the kennel is legally allowed and that proof of a public nuisance would be the only way to oust the kennel.

Newman said he had purchased the property from a previous owner of the kennel and intends to upgrade the property because he intends to make it his home. Under the previous owner, the kennel may have created a nuisance, said Newman, but he has already improved the kennel facilities and intends to make other improvements to make it as unobtrusive as possible.

"I live diagonally across the street," said M. P. Gauchet of 760 McClay. "During the past week or two, the dogs have been barking and howling all hours of the night," Gauchet said one person sold a neighboring house at a $15,000 loss because of the kennel.

"I'm sure if the kennel is allowed," said Dr. John Elloway of Novato, "this won't be the last you'll hear about this."

Deputy County Counsel Hendricks reported he had talked to neighboring complainants, but evidence presented thus far do not constitute legal nuisance.

The supervisors unanimously agreed that until evidence of nuisance is presented to the county counsel and a nuisance abatement request is brought before them, they have no legal right to act.

"Number one, it hasn't been proved a nuisance," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "Number two, until you've allowed him to improve the kennels, you can't judge whether it's a nuisance.'' Newman is being charged with nuisance for what someone else did in the past, added Kettenhofen. "It almost seems as if you're harassing him unnecessarily."

When residents began repeating their complaints, the supervisors voted to "table" the matter.

Brown Act Extension Is Opposed

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted 4 to 1 to oppose an Assembly bill which would extend the Brown Act to cover advisory agencies of public bodies where any public funds or equipment are used.

The bill is AB 202, by Assemblyman James Hayes of Long Beach. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the supervisors the bill is "unnecessarily broad and could be interpreted to include practically any public or private organization which is requested to report to the board of supervisors on any matter whatsoever."

Maloney said existing provisions of the Brown Act already apply to agencies such as the Human Rights Commission and Airport Commission, and is quite adequate.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he agrees with the anti-secrecy provisions of the Brown Act. However, the new bill would force public announcement of all meetings of groups like the Shakespeare Festival if such groups receive contributions from the county, Behr asserted. He said this would make government unworkable.

Supervisor John F. McInnis agreed that AB 202 could make government unworkable and is unnecessary legislation. He added he has no reservations about having public business handled publicly. "I don't think any of us would have conveyed to the public an impression that we are fostering or encouraging any secretiveness in conducting public business."

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer was the lone dissenter. "It (the bill) states that agencies would be affected when public funds, personnel or equipmnt are used. I eel such bodies should operate publicly. When in doubt I'd lean in favor of publicly conducting such meetings."

Plea Date Set On Drug Charge

A 22-year-old San Francisco woman arrested by Novato police Tuesday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of illegally possessing the drug, amphetimine.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. Wednesday for Mary Kathleen Barclay. Police said she was arrested on Highway 101 at Grant Avenue after being questioned during a hitchhiking attempt.

A routine check revealed she was wanted on a $7 traffic warrant issued by San Jose Municipal Court, they said. A search disclosed she had three pills in her possession, police added.

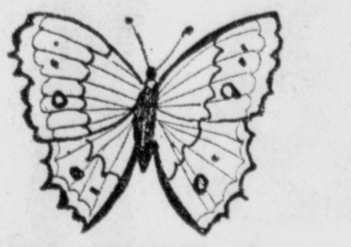
Marin's Sociable Feline Samantha Finds A Domicile In San Rafael

By MOLLY MARIN

The George Wellingtons will be returning to live in England the end of this month after residing five years in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Wellington was owner of the famous cat Samantha, whose story was told in a little feature item in the I-J woman's page last month about her need for a home because of the Wellingtons imminent departure for England.

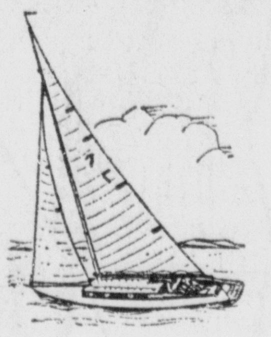
Mrs. Wellington reports that she had an amazing number of cards, letters and phone calls from people all interested in becoming Samantha's new owner. Selected for the privilege were the David Lawrences of San Rafael.



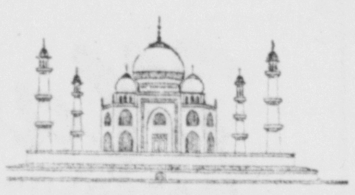
MR. AND MRS. Lloyd E. Spencer of San Anselmo will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at a party at the Admiral Nimitz Club on Treasure Island. Hosts will be the Spencers' daughters and their husbands, Col. and Mrs. H. O. Swancy of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Eagan of Santa Rosa.

THEIR FIRST child, a daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Spencer W. Merryman (Nadine Zavosky) of Greenbrae on Monday. The baby, who has been named Stacey Ann Merryman, is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mr. William Zavosky of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Merryman of San Rafael.

HOUSE GUEST of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Pugh of Belvedere is Brian Smart, a Britisher, who sailed his 38 ft. yacht from England on a round the world cruise. The last leg of the voyage, from Acapulco to San Francisco Bay, was made single-handed, after his one-man crew jumped ship following a severe storm at sea. The yacht, at a guest float at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, attracted much interest from club members. Smart, a pattern-maker by trade, will store the boat in Alameda at the invitation of Lester Stone, and will work to build up a stake, and resume his travels in a year or so. His job is in Michigan, but he will return to Belvedere before taking off on another deep water adventure. The Pughs formerly owned a yacht which Smart had built and have been acquainted with the voyager for several years.



MRS. ALTHEYA YOUNGMAN was hostess at an "Indian evening" at her home in Sausalito Monday honoring Dr. Mary Pothen. Dr. Pothen, who is president of the Southern Indian Educational Trust College in Madras, India, has been at Dominican College in San Rafael for the past year.



Other special guests from India where Dr. Esmeralda Das and her sister, Marlene Das of Bangalore, who are living in Berkeley. Dr. Das is in residence at the Kaiser Hospital.

Dr. Pothen showed some of her films of India and Mrs. Youngman showed pictures she took while she was traveling as a singer in India from 1947 to 1950.

A RECENT ARRIVAL in the family of the William E. Buffalows of Mill Valley is their second child, who has been named Jennifer. She has a three-year-old brother, Robert. Maternal grandparents are Philip T. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith of Mill Valley and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buffalow of Sausalito.

THE MARRIAGE of their daughter, Gloria Jean Giddings, to Theodore William Bakkila Jr., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Giddings of Larkspur. The couple were married in carson City, Nev.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bakilla of Duluth, Minn. Gloria is the sister of Mrs. John Crozier and Daniel Giddings. Both are music students at San Francisco State College and he is now with the Army at Fort Ord.

Former Marinite Advancing In Fields Of Speech And Drama

By JOAN LISETOR

Eight years ago, when she was in her junior year at Marin Catholic High School, Joan Moran was referred to as San Rafael's speakingest girl.

This week she received a masters degree of arts from Nevada Southern University, and her thesis, "A Three Year Developmental Acting Program In Drama For Secondary Schools," is scheduled for publication in the fall.

In May of 1960, with a speech entitled 'The Bells of Mission San Rafael," Joan found her way to the state finals of the Native Sons of the Golden West oratory competition. There she won the state championship and a $1,000 bond as her reward. A month later with another talk, "People to People: Key to World Understanding," she battled her way to the state finals of a Lions Club contest. Again she won first place, and this time her triumph earned her a $1.500 scholarship. Other honors followed, and in 1961 she was named Speech Champion of the State of California.

JOAN MORAN SNYDER

After graduation from Marin Catholic, Joan attended the University of California at Los Angeles and at Berkeley. She received a B.A. degree from Nevada Southern University. It was after teaching drama for one year in the Clark County School Systems of Nevada that she returned to the university for a masters degree.

Joan, who is now married to a Las Vegas attorney, Jerry Snyder, will begin teaching speech and drama at Nevada Southern University in the fall.

In addition to attending school and teaching drama, Joan has appeared in television commercials and numerous little theater productions. Her latest role was as Masha in Chekhov's "Three Sisters."

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moran of Greenbrae are Joan's parents. Her brother, Lance, lives in Terra Linda.

Shop For Selves

All those women shopping in men's wear stores are buying apparel for husbands, sons, or boy friends. Right? Wrong, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. A survey of men's stores in London and New York shows that a high percentage of women, and particularly in the "boutique" type of operation, are on the lookout for apparel for themselves. They come away with slacks in small sizes most often. After that they seek shirts and sweaters. They're all raiding the men's jewelry counter now that necklaces are "in" for him.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Corte Madera.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Wardrobe Worries Can Be Eliminated With Packing

On the last trip you made, do you remember the question you kept asking yourself over and over? Why did I bring so much I don't need and forget those essentials?

The whole packing problem — deciding what luggage to take, which clothes to wear, and how to pack them — can be exasperating if haphazardly done.

Here are some packing and wardrobe hints that are practically foolproof for any woman about to take off on a trip.

The paramount rule is travel light! It saves you money by avoiding overweight luggage costs. It also spares you the bother of carrying non-essentials. And if you are headed overseas, remember your transatlantic air baggage allowance is 44 lbs. in economy class and 66 lbs. in first class.

Begin packing by making a list which will cover basic needs. To adapt this wardrobe to the particular season and place of your travel select lighter or heavier clothing, and coordinate your wardrobe around a few basic colors.

BASIC WARDROBE

1 top coat
1 travel suit
1 town suit
2 dressy blouses
2 casual blouses
2 sweaters
  (1 cardigan, 1 slipover)
2 casual dresses
1 cocktail or dinner dress
4 or 5 sets of lingerie
  (light and dark)
2 nightgowns or pajamas
1 packable robe and slippers
1 dozen nylon hose
4 pairs of shoes (including walking shoes already broken in)
1 raincoat and hood rainboots (plastic or light rubber) packable umbrella

ACCESSORIES

roomy handbag
dressier bag
cocktail purse
  (optional)
2 extra belts (to complement skirts and tops)
3 scarves
1 hat (the more packable the better) coordinated jewelry

FOR RESORT WEAR

1 pair play shoes
1 pair slacks
2 pairs shorts
3 tops
2 cotton skirts
Extra resort clothes if needed:
  bathing suit
  bathing cap
  light beach jacket

As for beauty accessories and toiletries, the checklist reads:

Face powder
Make-up foundation
Eyebrow pencil
Eye shadow
Mascara
Lipstick
Hair accessories
Tissues
Toothbrush and case
Washcloth
Soap and soap box
Comb and brush
Hand lotion
Cleansing cream
Deodorant
Lotions
Talcum powder
Shower cap
Tweezers
Sun tan lotion
Aspirin and other medical supplies

Transfer cosmetics to plastic containers. Never fill liquids to the brim. Don't overstock, as most toiletries are available where you are going. A useful handy-bag — when you don't want to lug a large purse around — is a small zippered purse just large enough to hold lipstick, comb, compact, and change purse.

GOING TRAVELING? How much luggage to take depends on your wardrobe needs but unless a very extensive trip is planned three pieces at the most should be ample: a train case for cosmetics, jewelry and overnight needs; a 21-inch weekender, and a large Pullman case or wardrobe carrier. Packing is easy if you make a checklist and eliminate the extras.

Dominican Alumnae Elects Mrs. H. R. Volin

Oil painting, etching, antique collecting, gardening, gourmet cooking and high fashion are just a few of the interests of Mrs. H. Reed Volin of San Rafael, who is the new president of the Dominican College Alumnae Association.

MRS. H. REED VOLIN

Cecile Grandjean Volin whose grandparents, Marin pioneers Mr. and Mrs. Charles Granjean and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Parks, settled here "when San Rafael was a dirt street bordered by wooden sidewalks," was educated in Marin County schools and has resided here the last six years since her U.S. Air Force Colonel husband's retirement from the service.

Mrs. Volin, an active member of the Dominican College Alumnae Council since her return, "hopes to further the awareness of the residents of Marin to the many advantages offered the community by the San Rafael campus.

"A variety of educational and cultural opportunities are open to both men and women. It would be wonderful if more took advantage of these," she added.

The Volins, both inveterate travelers, spent 20 service years living in the four corners of the world. Mrs. Volin, a lifelong collector, found small antiques — mostly fine porcelains and silver pieces — from around the world.

During these years Mrs. Volin was active in officers' wives clubs and at the time of retirement was president of NATO wives in Oslo, Norway.

Col. Volin now teaches advanced mathematics at Terra Linda High School.

A hard working artist who spends two days weekly on her work, Mrs. Volin noted, "During the Air Force years I maintained my interest in painting but did not start seriously until our return here." Since then she has exhibited her work in San Francisco, and sold a number of paintings.

She graduated from Dominican with a degree in art and French. Mrs. Volin spent one undergraduate year at the University of Washington and has taken art courses at the San Francisco Art Institute and University of Oslo.

She has been active in the Northgate Group and this year is chairman for the six summer fashion shows at the Marin Art and Garden Center. While Col. Volin was taking advanced degrees in mathematics and engineering at Harvard and Columbia Universities, his wife modeled professionally in New York and Washington, D.C.

She is active in the garden section of the American Association of University Women, works on the Marin Music Chest drive and is a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church where she was confirmed, married and where her son was christened.

Cecile's son, H. Reed Volin Jr., of San Francisco, and daughter, Mrs. Charles J. Howard of Kansas City, Mo., are grown and married. She has six young grandchildren. Three granddaughters, including twins, were born during the last week of April.

A gourmet cook, the new president has entertained for as many as 75, doing all the cooking herself. She prefers preparing dinners for eight to ten guests.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Blackberry Wine Brings Need To Maintain 'Good Guy' Image

DEAR HELEN:

I have been going with this girl for about a year and all she wants to do is neck. Every time I turn around I get one planted smack on the kisser. I don't mind so much but the other night she sneaked out some blackberry wine from the house, and I'm told I got too frisky. Nothing serious, but she's pretty mad at me she says; but I don't think she is, really.

I have a "good guy in the white hat" image, and I don't want her spreading this around, especially since it might get back to my parents who would kill me.

If I apologize, it might happen again. Heck, I'm not that good. If I say it's her fault, she'll smear me to get even. So what do I do? — FOOL

DEAR FOOL:

You didn't say, but I gather you'd just as soon break up with Siren-ella. Her plans for you don't exactly jibe with the good guy image.

So apologize, tell her you can no longer trust yourself alone with her and she'd better find a nicer guy. You might even imply you've discussed the situation with your father, but her parents will never know about the wine.

In other words, be a gentleman and let her down easy. And if she still tries a smear, most of the mud she throws will land on her. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You are nothing but an old fogie with a big mouth. I'll bet if I started an "Up With Steadying" club, I'd get more members. But no one would know cause I don't have my mouth bouncing around the newspapers.

I hate you old people who flop your long skirts and frizzy hair our way. Keep out of the teen world, you're not wanted! And watch your skirts, they might get stomped on — by us!

I'll bet you're too chicken to print this, too. We are two Junior High School girls against "Stamp Out Steadying," and Helen. — JADE AND K.K.

DEAR J AND K:

Don't blame me for your unpopularity with boys, sweeties. Few guys would risk going steady with girls who might stomp 'em.

And now, why don't you go chew on a bar of soap? — H.

NOTE TO "PRO-S.O.S."

Yes a few "Stamp Out Steadying" buttons are left from the last re-order. Those who would "rather mix than match" (for the present) may get theirs by sending 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for each button to Helen Bottel's SOS Club, Box 9998, Sacramento, Calif. 95823.

DEAR HELEN:

An answer to Kathy, the Leap Year scribe: Well said!

Now, for Leap Year as seen from the male angle: Fellas, if a girl asks you out on a Leap Year date, by all means don't park and don't go in for a nightcap afterwards. And remember the girl who kiddingly asks you to marry her — means it!

How do I know? I'm engaged. — STILL SURPRISED

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Keep A Record

To hold the cost for servicing appliances to a minimum, keep a record of service calls as well as the bill of sale, instruction book and warranty. These can be meaningful for future servicing. It's a good idea also to get the name and telephone number of the man who installs a new appliance and his recommendation for a servicing organization, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Association suggests.

Start Dieting As A Child, You Don't Outgrow Obesity

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—That diet the adult struggles with week after week should have started when he was a youngster, Prof. Charles B. Corbin of Texas A&M University believes.

Dr. Corbin said studies of overweight among 1,200 grade school children showed percentages of obesity among boys in grades one through seven ranged from six to 17 per cent. Girls showed generally higher percentages of obesity in those age groups.

Similar studies in Canada and Great Britain showed those children had less fat, Corbin said.

"Our kids are less fit and more fat," he said.

By and large, athletic programs are geared to boys, he said, a fact that would explain the generally larger amount of fat among girls.

The most damaging revelation of the study is that fat problems tend to stay with people.

"Our kids are getting fatter as they grow older," Corbin said. "Research shows fat people tend to get fatter. The majority of these kids are not going to trim down in their teen-age years. It is more proof against the baby-fat theory that says, 'Don't worry, he will grow out of it.'"

The study has many implications.

"It may mean parents should shut off the television and see that their kids get more physical education earlier," Corbin said.

Library Buff, Dr. H. Z. Klein, Accepts Sausalito Office

DR. HARVEY Z. KLEIN

Dr. Harvey Z. Klein, a pathologist on the staff of Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco, is the new president of Friends of the Sausalito Library.

He accepted the hospital position after serving as pathologist for the U.S. Aarmy during 1964-66, when he was stationed at Fort Baker in the medical laboratory.

Dr. Klein comes from Pittsburgh, Pa., but says he became so much impressed with the beauty and atmosphere of the Bay Area that he decided to make it his home.

He received his B.S. degree from the University of Pittsburgh and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa there. He received his M.D. degree from the university Medical School, where he became a member of the medical honorary society, Alpha Omega Alpha, and then took a residency in pathology at the veterans' hospital there, at the same time accepting a teaching position in the Medical School.

The Kleins reside in Sausalito on Buchanan Drive with their two daughters, Amanda, 6, and Emily, 3, both born in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Klein says of her husband, "Golf is his passion, but he ice skates with Amanda each week," she adds, "He enjoys gardening — that is when I do the work, but he joins me in painting, weaving and cooking."

Dr. Klein is a member of the San Francisco graduate club of his medical school fraternity, Phi Delta Epsilon. He is a dedicated worker for a new library in Sausalito and plans for expansion of the Friends.

Other new officers are Mrs. Elisa Stinson, first vice president; Gordon McCall, second vice president; Mrs. Richard L. Whitaker, secretary; and Dr. Burton Wise, treasurer.

Army in Vietnam and Ronald Gustafson with the U. S. Navy in the Philippine Islands. Her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Janie Gustafson of San Anselmo.

Richard is the son of Mrs. R. H. Eiben of Pensacola, Fla., and has one brother, William Shore. Richard has completed four years service in the U. S. Marine Corps and is now assistant manager of House and Gardens Store in Concord.

The wedding will take place Aug. 4 at the Community Church in Mill Valley.

To Slim Legs

Wear medium to dark colors of gray, brown, black or blue pantyhose or stockings if legs are heavy. Avoid heavy textures and bright colors. Thin-legged women can go all out with textured and colored hose. Both texture and color add to the illusion of more weight to the leg.

Food Buys For Weekend Projected To Include Produce And Meats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit will be available this weekend in food stores and supermarkets.

Heading the list of abundant meats are broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys. Beef roasts and steaks may fall into the abundant class in most areas.

Pork roasts should be in good supply in all areas along with ham and bacon in some areas. Fish fillets and steaks and fish sticks and portions are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes should be abundantly available in all areas. And so should corn in some areas. Bananas are in ample supply in most areas along with cantaloupes and strawberries in some areas.

West Coast listings on wholesale cuts of beef are generally steady to somewhat higher this week in the Pacific Northwest and in Southern California, with price trends mixed in Northern California markets. Around the San Francisco Bay Area, changes include an increase on loins.

Both fresh and smoked pork cuts are showing increases in San Francisco where fresh loins are higher and both fresh and cured hams are higher than a week ago.

Veal has declined in Portland area markets.

Ready to cook chicken fryers are down in California, and chicken roasters are also less per pound in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply this week include bananas, grapefruit, oranges, carrots, celery, cucumbers, lettuce and onions.

Fish and sea food items that should be abundant in the West are dover sole, salmon steaks, canned tuna, rockfish fillets, halibut steaks, ocean perch fillets, and oysters.

Other speed reading courses demand $150, $175, $200 and even more. But Readak's program was a real bargain at $120 for many years.

Since 1957, Readak methods have been studied by more than 100,000 students at NASA Ames Research Center, Santa Clara University, Stanford Research Institute, Notre Dame College, Ampex and over 300 other major schools and industries.

This summer, break through your reading barriers at Readak. In Readak's small classes you'll learn how to select and use your best reading speed for every purpose. Reading becomes a minor challenge — not a crushing burden. Hand-pacing, critical reading, skimming, scanning, overviewing, pre-reading, outlining, technical reading, memorizing and vocabulary building techniques make it easy to save reading time.

And now you can get Readak's excellent and successful speed reading program for $25 less.

The San Francisco Junior Bach Festival winds up Sunday at St. Ignatius Church, University of San Francisco, with the performance of the complete B Minor Mass at 7 p.m.

CONCERT REVIEW

Hub Trumpet Pupil Steals Limelight In Youth Event

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Highlight of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's second annual youth concert yesterday morning was the amazing trumpet skill of 15-year-old Bert Truax, an eighth grader at Red Hill School, San Anselmo.

The College of Marin gymnasium was almost filled with wiggly, but well-behaved Marin Elementary School youngsters and about 125 Tomales High School students.

Conductor Verne Sellin also provided interesting commentary. Though the full orchestra and major principals were not present, 60 of its members played with splendid spirit a program that many adults would have appreciated.

How fortunate it would be if all educational and cultural endeavors could be made as enjoyable for children as this was. And we do mean educational, for the young people had studied the program in detail previously in their classes following a comprehensive guide provided by the San Francisco Symphony Association.

Bert's incredible achievements as a virtuoso at so young an age were demonstrated in a real showpiece — a set of variations by Arban on "Carnival of Venice," an old Italian melody. His tone was strong and sure, and his rhythmic drive never faltered throughout the tour de force involving triple tonguing, trills and other technical feats.

His future as a professional musician is assured if this is his ambition.

The rest of the program including music of Germany, Austria, Russia, Hungary, Bohemia, France and America, was well calculated through its liveliness and musicality to hold the attention of the youthful audience.

The first part emphasizing the classical style consisted of the first movement of J. C. Bach's Sinfonia in B Flat; the finale of Mozart's Symphony No. 38, and the third and fourth movements of Prokofiev's Classical Symphony, the last far from typical of this composer.

In the last four numbers the orchestra was at its most brilliant. Especially interesting was "Putnam's Camp" from Ives's "Three Places in New England," rip-roaring Fourth of July celebration in which two bands are heard playing at the same time different tunes.

The remaining three selections were the "Intermezzo Interrotto" from Bartok's Concerto for Orchestra, containing the famous and hilarious razzing of Shostakovich, Dvorak's Slavonic Dance No. 8 and the French Military March from the Algerian Suite by Saint-Saens.

ART REVIEW

Vitality, Sense Of Newness Fill Leon Polk Smith's Paintings

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Leon Polk Smith exhibit through July 7 at the San Francisco Museum of Art, is a must! His imposing hard-edge oil paintings crowd you with a sense of newness, vitality and life that is remarkable, especially in view of the artist's Spartan theme.

Usually, this is a simple division of the canvas into only two, perhaps three areas. These are painted in a like amount of many-coated but unshaded colors which form a perfect balance of negative and positive space within their rectangular, circular or dogbone-shaped confines.

Strong as they are, Smith's canvasses rarely rely on jarring color juxtapositions. And yet they surround you with a sense of exciting variety, daring and often, subliminal meanings that just don't ordinarily accompany such a sterile concept.

With just a change of line his shapes can become as sensuous as a nude or crisply mechanistic. They may assume references to architecture, nature or mathematics or more specifically, they may suggest gears, a breaking wave, a tree or even a doorway.

The divisions themselves often court disaster. Smith may hang a very small deep blue area dangerously on the edge of a giant yellow canvas, are shaped in ways that should optically distort the canvas edge or lead the eye out of it completely, or he may cut a 45-degree line right through a corner, all of which can get a painter into a pile of trouble. Not Smith.

No matter how improbable his divisions may seem, he rectifies their innate imbalance with a compensating color balance. The opposing weights maintain unfailing equilibrium no matter how bizarre the divisions themselves may be. Because of this unerring color sense, Smith is free to manipulate all manner of unusual geometric schemes, making them not only successful but giving them individuality and in a special sense, personality.

Smith's most complex paintings are done on folding screens. Several of these "involvements" have single, two-part designs moving across all sections, while on one, each panel is entirely different.

Additionally, he shows "torn drawings" which are S-shaped strips collaged onto solid-colored grounds, a few acrylics which seem small studies for larger oils, and three white relief sculptures which restate in very direct terms Smith's idea of negative-positive space. All are further proof of the artist's facility and uniqueness expressed within a very limited idea.

"If you change your mind about gettin' married tomorrow, I know a neat hiding place in Bobby's tree house."

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, June 6, the 158th day of 1968 with 208 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning stars are Saturn and Venus. The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1816, 10 inches of snow fell in New England to start what was known as "The year in which there was no summer."

In 1933, a motion picture drive-in, the first of its kind, was opened in Camden, N.J.

In 1944 the greatest invasion in history began as General Eisenhower sent allied troops into France on D-Day.

In 1962 leaders of the Secret Army Organization of Algeria called on their followers to resume terrorist activities against independent groups.

A thought for the day: Thomas Jefferson said, "Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap; it will be dear to you."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Don't Relax Too Much Even When The Odds Stacked In Your Favor

You're entitled to a comfortable feeling if the odds are in your favor, but don't relax too much. Make allowance for a long shot coming in against you.

TAKES OPENER

South tood the diamond opening, led out the ace of spades and then continued with the king of spades. The odds were slightly better than 2 to 1 that the five missing trumps would break 3-2, but in this case the trumps broke against the odds. South was down one when he had to lose two trump tricks.

When West dropped the ten of spades on the first round of trumps South didn't have to rely on the odds. He could have made the contract against the actual 4-1 trump break.

LEADS FROM DUMMY

After the first round of trumps South leads a heart to dummy's jack and returns a trump from dummy. East must put up the jack of spades since otherwise South would try a finesse with the nine. (The finesse would be safe since the trumps would break 3-2 if West could beat the nine.)

When East plays a spade honor, South must play the three of spades, refusing the trick. East leads a club, and South must put up the ace on the theory that East would not lead the suit if he had the king.

LEADS ACE

Declarer next leads out the ace and king of hearts, discarding the losing club from dummy. The odds are that East will hold three or more hearts.

As it happens, East does follow suit to the hearts. Now South ruffs the queen of clubs in dummy and returns the last trump. No matter what East does, South can win both the king and nine of trumps. The rest of South's hand is then good.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—Q J 8 6
♥—9 7 4
♦—Q 5
♣—J 8 5 2.

What do you say?

Asnwer: Bid two notrump, the negative response.

You can show your excellent spade support later, but your first job is to show that you have a poor hand. (Some experts would jump to four spades, if their partnership agreement is that this kind of jump shows good trumps but neither an ace, king nor singleton nor void anywhere in the hand.)

An E For Effort

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — A big tractor-trailer rig swerved into a vacant lot and turned over, injuring the driver and causing $7,000 damage to the rig. Later a state patrolman visited the driver, John S. Johnson, in the hospital and handed him an award as the state's safe driver of the month. Johnson had swerved his truck to avoid hitting some children after his brakes failed.

Reed Trustees Vote Expanding Pilot School

Trustees of Reed School District have decided to expand the pilot middle school program at Del Mar School, from 110 to 180 pupils next fall.

The decision followed a two-hour briefing Tuesday night on the program by Supt. H. Joe Edgington, research director. Lynn Jens, Principal Robert A. Gaw, psychologist Gail Cox and teachers Judy Wheatley, Kathleen King, James Allen and Richard D. Hurley, according to Edgington.

The pilot program is to be carried on to the new Reedland Woods School, scheduled to be completed in 1969.

A review of the working budget was put over to the June 18 meeting, when the tentative budget will be presented for adoption.

The working budget totals $1,969,642, up from this year's budget of $1,748,032.

Edgington said that, in spite of the $221,610 increase, the board does not anticipate an increase in the operating tax rate because of operating expenses, but said there probably would be a 20 to 25-cent increase in the total tax rate of $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation due to the bond issue for $1,600,000 which passed last June for the construction of Reedland Wooods School and an addition at Granada School.

The Reed School Board Also

CONTRACT — Approved a contract for the 1968-69 school year, for audio-visual services provided by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, for $3,720.

PERSONNEL CHANGES — Accepted resignations from teachers Colleen Burns of Tiburon School, Mrs. Shirley Roberts of Granada School and Mrs. Hope Wright of Del Mar School. Hired teachers Mrs. Barbara J. Kendall for Granada School at $9,900; Rob L. Goldstein for a teaching team at Reed at $7,300, and Sylvia G. Stevens at Del Mar, $9,000.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSIGNMENTS — Made no announcement of administrators being rehired, according to Edgington. Following the May 28 board meeting, trustees held a closed session to discuss "hiring of administrators," according to James B. Atkin, chairman. Edgington said announcement of administrative assignments would be made at the June 18 session.

Editor Is Elected Novato Chamber Head

George Barnwell, editor of the Novato Advance, was elected president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce at a special breakfast meeting yesterday.

Other officers elected were James Adair, manager of the Title Insurance and Trust Co., first vice president; Ted R. Schuman, owner of Ted Schuman Chevrolet, second vice president; and Ralph E. Peters, manager of the Central Valley National Bank, treasurer.

Budget Higher, But Not Taxes For Sausalito

Sausalito can get by in 1968-69 with the same $1.315 tax rate it now has if it adopts the $1,222,186 budget proposed by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The figure is up $87,463 from this year's expenditure of $1,134,723, but Patterson reports that the budget can be funded from current revenues, surpluses from this year, and reserves accumulated for projects scheduled this fiscal year.

The budget would include two new city employees, and pay raises of 5 to 10 per cent costing a total of $38,705. Most employees would get 7.5 per cent raises.

The budget includes $250,869 in capital improvements, $186,000 of it for Bridgeway widening projects.

The police budget is $263,392, compared to $228,334 this year. Fire department budget is $209,467 compared to $185,800 this year. The ambulance budget, also run by the fire department, is $4,694 compared to $3,455 this year. Civil defense is $450 compared to $4,241 this year.

In public works the total is $168,448 compared to $147,279 this year. Included are $7,350 for building regulation ($6,975 this year), $31,638 for administration and engineering ($30,564), $2,000 for street improvements ($7,763), $72,217 for street and subdrain maintenance ($59,803), $21,133 for street trees and parkways ($19,765), $11,000 for street department construction ($1,900), and $23,110 for street lighting and traffic markings ($20,509).

The parks budget is $24,168 compared to $21,795 this year. The recreation budget is $6,827 compared to $8,929.

The library budget is $43,376 compared to $38,700 this year.

Under general government, the total budget is $85,766 compared to $82,845 this year. Department figures are: $26,669 for city manager ($25,166); $24,057 for planning ($20,541); $3,225 for city council ($3,500); $2,280 for civil service ($2,100); $9,487 for finance ($8,726); $8,436 for city clerk ($7,668); $1,012 for city treasurer ($810), and $10,600 for city attorney ($14,334.)

The new employees would be a police patrolman and a public works heavy equipment operator. At a budget session last week, the city council tentatively approved hiring another patrolman and promotion of a police sergeant to lieutenant.

Other major expenses in the budget include $51,232 for bonds and insurance payments and $60,992 for retirement and social security costs.

The city council will take up public works and library budgets requests when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

AFTER FIVE DECADES

Chance Reunites Childhood Friends

By CHARLINE SUTTON

They sat in the afternoon sun, sipping tea and talking about Cow Hollow and Nanny Goat Gulch and the 1906 earthquake just as if it were yesterday.

Until a month ago, when fate brought them together in a San Rafael rest home, the three long-ago San Fancisco friends had not seen or heard from each other in nearly 50 years.

They didn't recognize each other at first.

"I was sitting talking to two ladies at the table," said Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald Woods, the youngest of the trio, whose sparkling enthusiasm and vigor belies her 79 years. "They said they were sisters and their names were Emily and Blanche.

"I said I used to know a Blanche and Emily years ago, never dreaming they were the ones I had known. But when Emily said her last name was Middleton — well, I got the shock of my life. Their younger sister Florence was my best friend. And now, after all these years, we meet again."

Mrs. Woods, who admits her sense of humor "always got me into trouble at school," told the resthome owner Gerhard Link, later that day, "You're the link that got us together."

Mrs. Emily Ingham Middleton, 91 and her sister, Mrs. Blanche Ingham Palacin, 85 were as surprised as their newly reunited friend.

"I remember Margaret as one of the little kids," Mrs. Middleton added, shaking her neatly coiffed white hair, her large brown eyes shining, "but it's hard to believe that Margaret here was once as little as Florence." (Florence, then Mrs. William Grant, died in 1944.)

Mrs. Palacin, pink-cheeked, her wavy white hair soft about her face, recalled, "There were always lots of young people around our house. We sure had lots of fun. I loved to dance — and remember the steam train at Harbor View (now the Marina)."

All San Francisco-born, Mrs. Woods grew up with seven brothers and sisters at Oak and Buchanan Streets ("They called it Lincoln Hill.") and the Ingham sisters had 11 brothers and sisters in the home at Fillmore and Pierce streets when that area was known as Cow Hollow.

It was in 1904 at Commercial High School that their sister, Florence, became friends with Mrs. Woods, then Margaret Fitzgerald, who was studying typing and shorthand at night school.

"I worked during the day. I couldn't begin to tell you what all I didn't do. I worked for a wholesale house, a lawyer and heaven knowns what all," she smiled.

Although she laughingly claimed she hasn't lived "very long yet," Mrs. Woods said her secret for long, happy living is "keeping busy." In addition to raising a family — her daughter, Mrs. Audrey Davenport lives in Redwood City and her son, Russell V. Woods, a San Francisco police inspector, lives at 150 Via Lerida in Kentfield — she worked for the then San Francisco Telephone Company for 30 years. Her husband died in 1960.

The two sisters also advocate industrious living.

Mrs. Palacin helped her husband, Frank, in his laundry business, the Golden Gate Steam Laundry, formerly at Lombard and Fillmore Streets and raised a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Kane of 100 Upland Road in Kentfield.

"I've had a good life. A busy one. A very good one. You bet," she maintained stoutly.

Mrs. Middleton was commended as a "great homemaker and seamstress. She made all her sisters' dresses," according to Mrs. Woods, who added she had taken care of the sisters' mother who died at the age of 103 in 1946.

"I was always with my family," Mrs. Middleton replied simply. "My husband was in the merchant marine and he was away a lot. But when he came home, we were always together."

After their husbands' deaths in the 1940s, the sisters lived together in a San Francisco apartment, coming to the San Rafael Senior Home in March. Mrs. Woods, who had lived with her daughter for 10 years, arrived in April.

All are in good health. Blanche Palacin a little hard of hearing and Emily saying she has a "little trouble" with her eyes. They enjoy the choral concerts presented weekly at the home at 416 Fourth Street, the bingo games and television.

But, most of all, they enjoy sitting outside in the patio off the room the sisters share which is filled with family snapshots and memorabilia. Mrs. Woods often spends weekends with her son's family and they all have lots of visitors.

"We have so many," said Blanche, "that I think I need a rest."

But they were still talking about the French picnics and dances (Mrs. Palacin's husband was French), Mrs. Woods' grandson who is in Norway and her granddaughter in Morocco with the Peace Corps, the 1906 earthquake ("I slept in the park for three nights," remembers Mrs. Woods — "Our house wasn't damaged," said Mrs. Middleton), about the sisters' great-nephew in Vietnam, and the nanny goats in Cow Hollow which Mrs. Middleton called "Nanny Goat Gulch."

"Isn't that a terrible thing to say?" admonished her sister. "But we had lots of fun there. What a time!"

GIRLHOOD FRIENDS — Sixty years ago, 19-year-old Margaret E. Fitzgerald (standing) posed with Florence M. Ingham, her school chum, in San Francisco. "I stood up with her at her wedding a few years later," recalled Margaret, "and a few years after that, we lost track of each other."

Three Suspects Held On Tapes; $2,500 Bail Set

Two San Rafael youths and a Greenbrae companion were booked in county jail yesterday for investigation of concealing six stolen stereophonic tapes.

The trio—Joe Bob Beauford, 20, and Philip Kirk Delaplaine, 18, both of 106 Union Street, San Rafael, and John Breech Jeremy, 18, of 291 Via Lerida—was scheduled for appearance in Marin Municipal court this afternoon.

Sheriff's officers said Adeline Jane Graves of 100 Belvedere Drive, Strawberry, told them she was awakened by a knock at her front door about 4 p.m. yesterday. She said she looked out and saw the three youths leaving her carport.

A check of the car belonging to her roommate, Diana Marie Chase, disclosed the tapes were missing, she said, and police were notified. The three were arrested at the intersection of Tiburon Boulevard and Strawberry Frontage Road and the tapes recovered, officers said.

The youths remained in jail today in lieu of $2,500 bail each.

Del Mar School Slates Carnival

Del Mar School in Tiburon will hold its fourth annual carnival Saturday, with proceeds going to the student council.

From 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., students will man booths featuring fishing ponds, bean-bag throws, a cake-walk contest, a dunk tank and other games. Local merchants have donated $300 in prizes.

Leland G. Spencer, vice-principal, is chairman of the event, assisted by the president and vice president of the student council, Linda Hall and Kathy St. Johns.

Murder Suspect's Confession Barred

An accused murderer's confession, taken by Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, was ruled inadmissable as evidence today by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Judge Wilson said he acted in accordance with recent Supreme Court decisions when he prohibited the recounting of statements made by Kenneth Allen Preston, 20-year-old Santa Rosan accused of double murder.

'I AM INVOLVED'

The jurist allowed only one brief conversation between Stinson and Preston, accused of killing Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia trailer house Jan. 12.

Preston, according to Stinson volunteered to talk on Jan. 14 in Stinson's office. Stinson asked if Preston was involved in the Ackley killings. According to the undersheriff, Preston answered: "Yes, I am involved."

Defense attorney Edwin Verzyl, on cross examination, forced Stinson to admit that, in that brief conversation, Preston did not indicate if the involvement was before, during or after the killings.

"We had further conversation," Stinson said. The judge did not allow him to discuss the further conversations.

JURY NOT TOLD

The jury was not told of a conversation between Preston, Stinson and Bales that same day, before a court reporter in Bales' office.

During that 20-minute session, Preston told a sketchy story of the double killing in such hypothetical terms as, "If I were there, this is what would have happened."

Judge Wilson said that, while Bales and Stinson used interrogation techniques which were "far from the so-called third degree," the questioning was still illegal in view of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision in the case of Miranda vs. Arizona.

That decision holds that when a prisoner even indicates a reluctance to talk for fear of self incrimination, the interrogation must stop.

The court reporter's transcript of the coversation with Bales and Stinson indicates several times such a reluctance, he said.

NEW TRIAL DENIED

Bales and Stinson maintained the reluctance to talk was based only on Preston's fears of retaliation by Sommerhalder, his co-defendant.

Today, the judge also denied for the time being Preston's motion for a new trail on the grounds that the U.S. Supreme Court now says persons opposed to the death penalty may not be automatically excluded.

Judge Wilson said he will reconsider the motion when and if the trial moves to the penalty stage.

Taking the stand just before the noon recess today was Harry Johnson, a state criminologist, who is expected to testify that the murder bullets were fired from a gun found in Preston's bedroom and that particles of carpeting found on Preston's clothes when arrested came from the rug in the Ackley trailer house.

Commuters Tax Opposed By Mitchell

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's proposed commuter tax, if it is enacted by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, may result in economic boycotts against the city, Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell warned yesterday.

Testifying on the proposed tax before the San Francisco supervisors' finance committee, Mitchell predicted the tax would be so resented by Bay Area residents that they would boycott San Francisco businesses.

Such a boycott would bring San Francisco businessmen storming into the supervisors' chambers to protest the tax, he said.

Commuters are like tourists, said Mitchell, because they spend money in the city "and require very little in the major costs of government such as schools and welfare."

The average Bay Area homeowner pays a property tax rate between $10 and $11 per $100 assessed valuation, said Mitchell, but the San Francisco homeowner has an $8.80 rate.

Fewer than 25 persons attended the first hearing on the tax.

Mayor Alioto testified that commuters cost the city three or four times the $13.6 million he hopes to get from them in taxes on their incomes earned in the city.

The finance committee took no action on the proposed tax, agreeing only that there should be further hearings on it. Mitchell was asked to further document his statements at a future hearing.

Seminarian In Court On Draft Refusal Charge

Henry D. Gregory, 25-year-old San Francisco Theological Seminary student, indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco for refusing to be inducted into the Army, was arraigned before Federal Judge Oliver J. Carter today.

Judge Carter continued the case until June 27, when the seminarian will make a plea. Gregory was released on his own recognizance.

Gregory refused to take a preinduction physical examination on Jan. 10 at the Oakland Army Induction Center. He said he intended only to refuse to sign a loyalty oath. When the loyalty oath was not proffered to him, he flatly refused the physical.

Several students at the theological seminary have turned back their draft cards. Gregory is the first of them to be indicted.

Dance Postponed

The British Commonwealth Association's annual Queen's ball scheduled Saturday at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, has been postponed to 9 p.m. June 22 at the hotel because of the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, reported association president William H. Kirkpatrick of Corte Madera.

BEAT THE CARPENTERS TO THE "BIG BUYS" ON NATIONALLY KNOWN PRODUCTS

We're going to be torn up for a few weeks (the inconvenience — for which we apologize), and rather than take damage losses on merchandise—we'd rather slash the prices, give you a break and the savings. This means everything in the store has its price snipped . . . like stuffed animals for 88c, famous name box candy at half price, swim caps at half price, men's Swiss made watches 9.98. Revlon lipstick at 80c, tooth brushes 2 for price of 1, plus examples already in the circles and more. Should a carpenter be standing in your path . . . shove him aside and select your savings—the customer comes first at Webb & Rogers, even with the walls coming down around us.

Deputies Report Three Thefts

Three burglaries including breaking into of two vehicles were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said William J. Doucet, 9 Grande Paseo, Marinwood, told them Tuesday his pickup truck parked at Lowrie's Yacht Harbor, San Rafael, was entered by forcing a ventilator wing. Taken were a radio, a pair of sun glasses, and a battery booster cable, he said.

Robert L. Cary, 125 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, reported Tuesday that his car at a College of Marin parking lot was entered by forcing a ventilator wing. Stolen were a $52 stereophonic set and 18 tapes, he said.

The house trailer of Marshall Still was entered Monday at Gate 6, Marinship, by breaking a front door lock, he told deputies. Taken was about $11 in change.

Tennis Club's Plan Is Opposed

In somewhat baroque planning language, the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee last night entered its objections to a proposed tennis club design to be built on Shoreline Highway opposite the Fountain Motel outside the city.

The proposal was referred from the Marin County Planning Commission for comment by the city.

The committee found the design proposal for the Goldberg Tennis Club "inconsistent within itself," and an overuse of the site, and recommended the county hold out for "a design idiom which would be consistent with the palette of design ideas and materials."

The committee postponed discussion of the planned Sycamore Avenue extension until after the planning commission discusses the extension further at a meeting Monday.

Sea Lane Safety

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard has outlined three sets of divided sea lanes to reduce the chance of ship collisions on the approaches to San Francisco Bay.

Origin Of P-TA

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss. (UPI)—The Parents-Teachers Association was born here in 1909 with delegates from five states attending the organization meeting. The founder and first president of PTA was Mrs. R.V. Stapleton of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Doctors Seek Viet Volunteers

CHICAGO (AP) — Volunteer Physicians for Vietnam, a program administered by the American Medical Association, seeks to attract more physicians to participate in the effort.

Since the project was started two-and-one-half years ago, 361 physicians have gone to South Vietnam to work in civilian provincial hospitals.

Sixteen volunteers have served a second two-month tour, and five former volunteers have returned to Vietnam for long-term service tours of at least one year.

Charles H. Moseley, director of AMA's program, said at least 300 volunteers are needed in 1968.

Volunteers receive free transportation, housing, an allowance of $10 a day while in Vietnam, and each is covered by a $50,000 insurance policy.

Kerosene Becomes Vital Space Fuel

TULSA (UPI) — Kerosene, a major source of home lighting only a few decades ago, has become a vital part of the nation's space effort.

The American Petroleum Institute reports that the first Saturn V moon rocket, launched last November, consumed 2,300 tons of kerosene and liquid oxygen in the first 2.5 minutes after lift-off.

Mill Valley Budget Seems Sure To Show An Increase

It is a little difficult to project what Mill Valley's 1968-69 budget will be, but it is almost a certainty it will be higher than this year's $1,800,529.

If the city sticks to the present level of services and employees, according to the budget prepared by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, the city's basic budget will rise $110,000 merely to meet increases in costs. If the city council approved everything proposed by city department heads, the budget would total $2,276,746.

The difficulty in making comparisons lies in the way Balmer presented the tentative budget this year. He divided it into a $1.351.000 operating budget; a $147,996 project progress budget, and a $777,750 capital projects budget.

Starting from the operating budget, which would maintain present levels of service, here is how the budget compares with the current year's budget (additional costs proposed under the other budgets in parentheses):

For the police department, the proposed budget is $181,877, an increase of $6,478 over this year. Salaries and wages would account for $157,593; other employee costs such as uniforms, social security and supplies would account for $21,784 with only $2,500 marked for capital outlay — replacement of four radios.

(In the progress budget the department is asking for an investigator at a salary of $9.996 plus wages instead of compensatory time for holiday pay, costing $6,396.)

For the fire department, the budget is $148.594 compared to $144,899 this year. Salaries take $125,984, and another $19,855 goes for employee-related costs. Capital outlay is $2,755 for replacing hoses, buying inhalators, alerting units and water back packs.

(The fire department in the progress budget is asking for two more firemen at a cost of $18,772, one promotion to captain costing $1,053, and a new fire engine costing $30,000 to replace a 1937 Seagraves unit.)

The street department budget is $116.905 compared to $113.956 this year. Only $300 would go to capital outlay, for a portable generator, with $67,116 for salaries, and $49.489 for services and supplies.

(The progress budget proposes half a maintenance man, shared with the sewer department, at a cost of $3,988; three radios costing $2,100; a tilt dozer and trailer costing $10,692, and a plant mix heater costing $1,800.

The finance department and city clerk's office, combined this year, have a budget of $50,806 compared to $49,412 this year. Total for salaries is $38,904, and for materials and supplies it is $11,902.

(In the progress budget a $7,200 accounting machine is proposed.)

Balmer has proposed a general expense fund of $67,446, up from this year's $63,642. The bulk of the sum goes for insurance, $35,600, and depreciation of city equipment, $11,996. Also included are $7,500 for the small craft harbor loan, and $4,350 for special projects such as the chamber of commerce, fall arts festival and junior chamber.

(Other requests have come from the art commission, $1,920; the Center for the Performing Arts, $1,500, and the Tamalpais Swim Club, $825.)

The city manager's budget is $32.840 compared to $32,161 this year.

The contingency fund was increased to $45,000 from this year's $32,000; general expenses increase to $67,446 from $63,642 and the corporation yard budget increases to $12,592 from $12,395.

The city engineer's budget at $11.800 and the city attorney's budget at $9,200 are unchanged.

The city council and mayor's budget remains at $1,000, and city hall costs drop to $12,685 from $14.114.

(In the progress budget $9.940 is proposed for 100 new seats in the council chamber, new councilmen's chairs, a telephone switchboard and two conference tables.)

Community development budget, which includes planning and building inspection, increases to $54,366 from $52,630.

(In the progress budget, a $680 projector and screen are proposed.)

Sewer plant costs will rise to $62,588 from $56,720, the total including $3,000 for capital improvements.

The sewer lines fund will rise to $34,396 from $30,988. Parking facilities fund will increase to $17,142 from $16,855. Drainage control will decrease to $4,400 from $5,300.

(Another $3,988 is proposed in the progress budget for a half-time maintenance man and $700 for a radio.)

The library fund, originally set at $116,893, was more than the expected revenues of $110,000, limited by the 30-cent limit on the library tax. Last year's budget was $111,747.

Bond interest will total $113.888. an increase from $68.323 this year. The main jump came with interest costs of $46.952 for the 1968 sewer bond issue.

Retirement costs will increase to $85,870 from $82,100.

The parks and recreation budget is $79,298 compared to $76,712.

(The department is asking $8,851 in the progress budget to hire a recreation supervisor and $4,427 in wages for recreation leaders. Another $59,500 is proposed in capital projects for Boyle Park improvements, filling the Edgewood Reservoir, improving the golf clubhouse, improving Old Mill Park and installing a new sprinkler system on Miller Avenue.)

Costs of equipment replacement will be $15.250 compared to $24,750 this year. The money would replace two police cars, a parking meter cart, and four pickup trucks.

The golf course budget is $46,553 compared to $46,080.

(Sought in the progress budget are $1,540 for a mower, $580 for a turf aerifier, and $1,100 for one and a half radio units to be shared with the park department.

Proposed is $229,000 in sewer bonds to relocate the outfall line ($80,000), build new mains on Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue ($127,000), and add a chlorinator at the treatment plant ($22,000).

Major project proposed under gas tax funds is $188.000 for the Sycamore Avenue extension. Other projects are $18.000 for landscaping Miller and East Blithedale avenues, $16.000 to widen Carmelita Avenue; $6.000 to resurface part of East Blithedale, $2.000 to repair Lomita Avenue, and $1,000 to widen Buena Vista Avenue.

In the flood control budget of $102.600 are projects for culverts on Ashford Avenue, Sutton Manor Creek, a Ryan Avenue easement, and work on Warner Creek at Vista Linda and in Boyle Park, plus funds for a pump on Sycamore Avenue and creek maintenance.

Smaller projects in the capital projects would add up to 58.4 cents on the tax rate.

Proposed are $54,050 to upgrade fire mains and hydrants; install bulkheads on Ethel, Ralston and Rose avenues; install a bulkhead at the intersection of Hazel and Rose avenues; paint and repair city hall; build steps for the Dipsea Trail; repair the Ethel Avenue trestle, and install curbs and gutters at Vista Linda.

In the drainage fund, $62,600 is proposed for culverts and drainage.

In the sanitation fund $9,700 is proposed for sewer lines from Ethel and Lovell avenues to Throckmorton Avenue.

For this year, the city had a property tax rate of $2.325 which produced a total of $730,566 in revenue.

As proposed this year, the operating budget would require a $2.30 tax rate producing $738,130, the progress budget would require 45.3 cents producing $144,776, and the capital projects budget would require 58.4 cents producing $186,150. The total would be a rate of $3.337 producing $1,069,056.

That figure is artificial, however, because it would require more than legal levies in the general fund and library fund. Reducing them to their legal limits of $1 and 30 cents respectively would cut the total tax rate to $3.057, and cut the total budget by $89,852.

Further reductions by the city council are a certainty. The council has scheduled budget meetings for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Novato Fire Budget Trims Tax 10 Cents

A final budget of $452,776 for fiscal 1968-69 was adopted by the Novato Fire District board of directors last night.

The budget calls for a tax rate of 53 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a decrease of 10 cents from this year's rate of 63 cents. The current budget is $434,667.

Fire Chief George Cavallero said the tax cut was made possible by an increase in assessed valuation of the district. This is the second year in a row the district has cut the tax rate, he said. In 1966-67 the rate was dropped 12 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Directors made no changes in the budget which had received preliminary approval on May 16.

The adopted budget allocates $352,996 for salaries, $58,480 for maintenance and $41,500 for capital outlay for a pumper truck, a pickup truck, expansion of the district's fire alarm systems and other minor projects. There is also a $200 surplus.

The budget also includes salaries for two additional firemen.

Later in the evening, the board instructed architect Ralph Priestley of Gromme and Priestley of San Rafael to obtain cost estimates for construction of training facilities and a drill tower on the Atherton Avenue site, east of Olive Avenue.

The board agreed, according to Cavallero, not to proceed with plans for a new fire station and district headquarters on the Atherton Avenue site at this time. Directors felt the station should be constructed when the population growth of the area warrants an additional station, he said.

The district plans then to move the main station to the Atherton Avenue site, leaving the Grant Avenue site in downtown Novato as a substation, Cavallero said, because the Grant Avenue station is too small.

Picnic Postponed

Marinwood Tax Increase Vote Lauded

Marinwood Community Services District Directors last night thanked residents for their vote of confidence in raising the tax rate from $1 to $1.35 in Tuesday's election.

Chairman Boyd F. Wells and Directors Donald A. Duerr and Lawrence Malkin announced they will make every effort to keep the tax rate below $1.35. Director Robert C. Morris was out of town, and Guy E. Baty, the fifth member, has resigned because he is moving away.

The directors discussed a preliminary budget of $158,855, as compared with this year's $130,500. The new budget includes $19,300 for fire protection in Lucas Valley.

The directors set an adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. Wednesday to continue budget discussions.

Included in the preliminary budget, which is still subject to change, are the following:

Two new firemen from July 1, salary raises amounting to about 7.5 per cent for employees and social security for employees which will cost $3,100 per year.

Proposed salary raises are: fire chief, from the present $8,892 per year to $9,816; beginning firemen from $6,372 to $7,038; park and rcreation director from $8,534 to $9,659; caretaker from $7,624 to $8,364; gardener from $6,024 to $6,822; and business manager-secretary (part-time) from $3,540 to $3,816.

Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, business manager-secretary, gave this breakdown of the preliminary budget for 1968-69:

Fire budget $63,671; park and recreation $79,150; street lighting and maintenance $16,034, total $158,855.

Estimated revenue includes $19,300 from Lucas Valley for fire protection; $42,000 from recreation fees; carryover of $7,745; total revenue from sources other than taxes $69,045.

This leaves $89,800 to be raised from taxes. The maximum that can be raised from the new $1.35 tax rates is about $112,000. Mrs. Bolding said the directors are hopeful that the full $1.35 rate need not be levied for the coming fiscal year.

Sand Storage Ordered For Two Bay Bridges

The state Division of Bay Toll Crossings announced yesterday state Department of Public Works approval of a $56,348 contract with the Fred J. Early Jr. Co. of San Francisco to build sand storage facilities at the Richmond-San Rafael, Carquinez and San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridges.

Early was the lowest of seven bidders for the job.

Robert F. Kennedy: Crusader With A Dynamic Drive

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE KENNEDY BROTHERS — The two Kennedy brothers, both fatally felled by assassin bullets, pose at their summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., during the summer of 1960 when Robert was managing John's presidential campaign. (UPI Telephotos and AP Wirephotos)

The faraway look, a typical expression, came into Robert F. Kennedy's eyes and he said, "Existence is so fickle. Fate is so fickle. How does anyone know if he will be around in 1972?"

He may have been thinking about the terrible afternoon in Dallas, Tex., when his brother was cut down so suddenly. Or he may have been speaking in political terms.

The reporter, trying to fathom Robert Kennedy's intentions for the future, never knew which.

More than three years had passed since the assassination of John F. Kennedy when Bobby made the remark, musing on the uncertainties of life.

By that time, he had become the best-known and one of the most controversial men in the U.S. Senate. Unlike his brothers, John and Edward, he had not waited long months before making his maiden speech on the Senate floor. Three weeks after he took his seat, Bobby was speaking out on economically depressed areas of his adopted state, New York.

Thereafter, in quick succession, he delivered major speeches on Latin America, poverty in America, the problems of the cities, and the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Newspaper headlines resembled the montage technique of a motion picture which telescopes into a few seconds on the screen the events of months or even years—"Voters swing toward Kennedy" . . "Kennedy inquiry leads to Justice Dept. Move." ..."Kennedy denounces cuts in aid" ... "Kennedy chides Johnson on cities" ... "Democrats look to RFK on choice for governor" ... "Bobby's man wins in surrogate race" ... "RFK leads LBJ in '68 sweeps."

He made almost as much news outside Washington as he did in his crowded and chaotic office on Capitol Hill or on the Senate floor. He traveled to Europe, Latin America, South Africa, and Southeast Asia. He rode a kayak through the rapids of Idaho's "River of No Return," climbed Mount Kennedy in Alaska, raced down the slopes of snow-covered mountains in Vermont on skis.

While he was in Europe in early 1967, he remarked that "the next few weeks will be critical" in the search for means to start negotiations to end the war in Vietnam. It was reported that he returned to Washington bringing "peace feelers" from Hanoi. He said that was untrue.

He also denied that profanity had exploded when President Johnson discussed with him his activities during that trip.

Whatever the facts, by February 1967 Kennedy was saying that Johnson was "working in a vacuum" in Asia. On the Senate floor, he called for a suspension of the bombing of North Vietnam. Later in that year, Kennedy brought out another of his books, "To Seek A Newer World." In it, he wrote that in early 1967 the U.S. had cast away "the last best chance" for negotiating an end to the war.

He was becoming increasingly critical of Johnson's policies.

As Kennedy's stance hardened with respect to the Administration, speculation rose that he might not wait until 1972 — when Johnson would be ineligible for another term in the White House—before running for President.

THE WEDDING DAY — Kennedy and his bride, the former Ethel Shakel, walk down the aisle of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Greenwich, Conn., following their wedding vows on June 17, 1950. The slain senator leaves his widow and 10 children. His wife is also expecting their 11th child in January of next year.

DEEP IN DISCUSSION — With their backs to the camera, the two Kennedy brothers take time out for a stroll and private conversation during John F. Kennedy's term as president. Robert was considered one of the late president's closest advisers.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who was to become Kennedy's rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, was one who said, "I'm not sure Bobby will wait until '72." Richard M. Nixon, preparing to make his move for the Republican nomination, also said he thought Kennedy might just make the big, bold effort in 1968.

Kennedy repeatedly denied the rumors. He said he would support Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for renomination.

But he became more critical of Johnson's policies.

Discussing racial disorders, he said the U.S., "as a government" has not made "the kind of commitment...necessary to deal with the problems of the ghettoes."

He moved away from Administration policy on Vietnam by saying:

"Whatever the exact status of the National Liberation Front (the Viet Cong)—puppet or partly independent—any negotiated settlement must accept the fact that there are discontented elements in South Vietnam, Communist and non-Communist, who desire to change the existing political and economic system of that country...To admit them to a share of power and responsibility is at the heart of the hope for a negotiated settlement."

In an interview in Fortune Magazine in its March 1968 issue, he was quoted as saying of McCarthy's move:

"As he said, he expects President Johnson to obtain the nomination and he does not expect to win. I do not know that any really good purpose is accomplished by his losing by himself, versus losing with my support. I do not know that that furthers any of the causes which I believe in and over which I have some differences with the Administration."

Asked if he was giving any thought to running, Kennedy said in the interview, I have thought about it, yes. I'm not planning to run . . . I' m just not planning to."

The New Hampshire Presidential primary took place on Tuesday, March 12. To the astonishment of most political analysts, McCarthy racked up a whopping 42 per cent of the vote, only a few percentage points behind the vote for the president.

On the following Thursday, Kennedy met secretly with a group of advisors and associates of John F. Kennedy. The question: Should he announce his candidacy?

New Hampshire showed that the party was badly split. Was there any further reason for him not to challenge Johnson?

Opinions varied in the conference. Ethel Kennedy, his vivacious wife, was firmly in favor of it. Theodore Sorensen opposed the move, arguing that political realities would be against it. There were varying shades of feeling.

Kennedy decided to take the plunge.

Two days later he called a press conference in the Senate Caucus Room. He stood in front of a green-covered table, the same table where, as counsel for a subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., he had sat during the Army-McCarthy hearings of a decade ago.

Ethel Kennedy and nine of their 10 children stood near him when he made his announcement.

From Washington he flew to New York.

There, under a grey and drizzling sky, he marched down Fifth Avenue in the St. Patrick's Day parade. There were mingled boos and cheers. He heard cries of "opportunist" and one young woman, obviously referring to McCarthy's campaign, cried out, "Where were you when we needed you in New Hampshire."

Presently, many of the men who had been in his brother's administration, and had remained close to him, returned to help him—Lawrence O'Brien, Kenneth O'Donnell, John Seigenthaler, Pierre Salinger, Sorensen, Richard Goodwin and others. Stephen P. Smith, a brother-in-law who had managed his campaign for the Senate, took the same assignment in Bobby's newest effort.

And presently the scenes typical of the Kennedy campaigns of 1960 and 1964 were recreated. . .hordes of screeching, yelling admirers crowding around his car as he campaigned. . .people tearing at his clothing, ripping off cuff links, even a shoe. . .clutching at his extended hands. . .his bodyguard, Bill Barry, clasping him around the knees as he stood up in an open convertible.

He won the primaries in Indiana and Nebraska. But Oregon voted for McCarthy and that was a serious setback for Kennedy.

From the beginning of his campaign, he had counted heavily on a decisive victory in California to provide the momentum that would sweep him to the nomination.

And so he came to Los Angeles for the make-or-break effort, determined to pull out all the stops to win.

A reporter once asked him why he ran so hard and worked such long hours. Kennedy borrowed the newsman's notebook and wrote a line from the Greek playwright, Aeschylus: "When the height is won, then there is ease."

His foes called him ruthless and overly ambitious. His admirers called him charming and brilliant.

Friends and foe alike acknowledged his deep devotion to his brother, John, and none could forget his grief-lined face as he escorted his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, through the funeral rites that followed President Kennedy's assassination in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

His tousled brown hair, his Boston accent and his speechmaking gesture of chopping the air with his right hand reminded many of his martyred brother. On the campaign trail he evoked a response similar to that of his brother in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Even in predominately Republican areas of upstate New York, he stirred waves of emotion, scenes of frenzy, an astonishingly human storm.

Kennedy first went to Washington soon after his graduation from the University of Virginia Law School in 1951 and his admission to the Massachusetts Bar. He joined the Justice Department where he was concerned principally with prosecution of graft and income tax cases.

When the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigation was organized in January 1953, he was named one of 15 assistant counsels under chief counsel Roy Cohn.

His service with the committee ended temporarily on July 31, 1953 after he and Cohn feuded over the latter's methods of operations during the Army-McCarthy hearings. He rejoined the committee the following February as chief counsel for the Democratic minority. The following year he succeeded Cohn as chief counsel and staff director when the Democrats organized the Senate and Sen. John L. Clellan became chairman.

When the Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field was formed in January 1957 with McClellan as chairman, Kennedy became chief counsel and head of an investigative staff of 65. He immediately launched an investigation into the activities of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters under the presidency of David Beck.

Later Beck was convicted of filing false income tax returns for the union and was sentenced to five years in prison.

James R. Hoffa, meanwhile, had been chosen as Beck's successor. In March 1958 the McClellan committee charged that Hoffa "grossly misused union funds," "runs a hoodlum empire" and his union "wielded well nigh incalculable power over our country" because Teamsters union disapproval could stop the economic pulse.

Kennedy and Hoffa shared a mutual dislike for each other. Hoffa, smarting under his questioning, called Kennedy "a young, dim-witted, curly-headed smart-aleck" and "a ruthless monster."

As attorney general Kennedy spurred the Justice Department into further investigation of labor racketeering. Hoffa, who was convicted twice of jury tampering and misuse of union funds, charged that Kennedy conducted a vendetta against him. Hoffa was sentenced to a total of 18 years in prison and immediately appealed the convictions. During Kennedy's attorney generalship there were 108 other convictions of Teamsters officials and associates. Officials of other unions also were prosecuted.

Such was Kennedy's legal background when his brother named him attorney general.

The limited experience stirred a controversy. The president joshed:

"I can't see that it's wrong to give him a little legal experience before he goes out to practice law."

Kennedy accepted the appointment somewhat reluctantly.

Once persuaded, however, he drew together a brilliant staff of lawyers to assist him, consulted them constantly, listened to their advice and backed them up. They called him "considerate," "imaginative," and "inspiring."

Kennedy's record as attorney general touched a broad span of the nation's life—civil rights, organized crime and racketeering, immigration, labor legislation, defense of the poor, pardons, economic concentration, juvenile delinquency and federal judiciary.

Historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., an admitted Kennedy enthusiast, called him "the best attorney general this country has had for a generation."

But he drew criticism.

He was roundly criticized when the FBI banged on doors in the middle of the night to question persons about a steel price increase in 1962 which was later withdrawn under pressure from President Kennedy.

He was chastised in the South for enforcement of civil rights but at the same time was criticized by some Negroes for supposedly proceeding too slowly in advancing racial equality.

Although the justice department was his primary responsibility, he had a hand in practically every phase of government.

The attorney general played an important part in advising on appointments. He reportedly was influential in the choice of John A. McCone as director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The president turned to him after the ill-fated Cuban invasion in April 1961, appointing him to head an inquiry into the Central Intelligence Agency.

During the 1962 Cuban missile crisis with the Soviet Union the attorney general led the opposition in government councils to proposals for an air strike against Cuba without warning. He rejected such action as "another Pearl Harbor," and urged instead the policy that was adopted of a restrained ultimatum to the Soviet Union to remove the missiles.

The attorney general was lunching at his McLean, Va., home on Nov. 22, 1963 when he learned of his brother's assassination. He was at the airport when the presidential plane landed in Washington with the late president's body, his blood-smeared widow and the newly sworn in president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and Mrs. Johnson.

He never left his sister-in-law's side during the public rites which preceded the funeral.

The assassination plunged Kennedy into deep melancholy. He had lost the brother he so intensely admired, his place in government was obscure and, reportedly, he and President Johnson were strained with each other.

WHITE HOUSE CHAT — Kennedy and President Johnson chat during a bill signing ceremony in the White House Rose Garden. Today Johnson leads a nation in mourning the 42-year-old senator's death by an assassin's bullet.

WORLD WAR II ROLE — With his father, Joseph P. Kennedy (left) a young Robert Kennedy takes his oath for duty from Lt. Comdr. Edward S. Brewer as a Naval aviation cadet on Nov. 11, 1943.

At Johnson's request he flew to the Far East in January 1964 to confer with leaders of Indonesia and Malaysia over Indonesia's refusal to accept the newly created country of Malaysia.

In June he traveled to West Berlin for the first anniversary of his brother's visit to West Berlin. From there he and his wife visited Poland where they were mobbed at every appearance.

On June 19, a few days before he left for West Berlin, tragedy almost struck the Kennedy family again.

His brother Edward, who was elected to fill a portion of John Kennedy's unexpired Senate term, was injured in a plane crash while en route to the Massachusetts Democratic convention where he was to be nominated for re-election to a full six year term.

There was talk of him becoming Johnson's vice presidential running mate in the approaching presidential election. Political leaders endorsed the idea. Polls showed him a favorite. At the same time there were suggestions from New York State Democratic leaders that he should run for the U.S. Senate in New York State although he resided in Virginia and voted in Massachusetts.

The vice presidential office obviously was more attractive to Kennedy and he announced on June 23, 1964 "I will not be a candidate for the United States Senate for New York."

Six weeks later Johnson, in effect, put him back in the New York Senate race by eliminating Kennedy and all other cabinet members from consideration as his running mate.

In the days that followed Kennedy won the endorsement of Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, the state's most potent Democratic leader; he resigned as a Massachusetts delegate to the Democratic National convention; leased a home at Glen Cove, Long Island, formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic Senatorial nomination and won the nomination at the state convention against only token opposition.

With that, Kennedy resigned as attorney general. In accepting the resignation Johnson wrote Kennedy that under his administration "the Department of Justice has achieved new standards of excellence and has come to symbolize the government's insistence on the vigorous and impartial assurance of equal justice to all Americans."

Kennedy's opponent for the Senate seat was the incumbent, Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating who sought a second term. The white haired, 64-year old Senator sent Kennedy a New York State Guide upon his nomination in an obvious dig at Kennedy's supposed unfamiliarity with New York State.

Kennedy defeated Keating by more than 800,000 plurality. When he joined his brother in the Senate, it marked the first time in history three brothers had become senators.

Robert Kennedy was born in Brookline, Mass., Nov. 20, 1925, the seventh of nine children of Joseph P. and Rose (Fitzgerald) Kennedy. His father was a multimillionaire and a former ambassador of Great Britain.

He was almost overshadowed by his older brothers and sisters but he compensated for this, plus his physical slightness and lack of academic brilliance, by a grim determination to succeed.

World War II interrupted his Harvard studies. He was a Harvard sophomore when his oldest brother, Joseph, Jr., was killed on a Naval flying mission over the English channel in 1944. Some months later the Navy named a destroyer after Joseph, Jr., and Robert went to Washington to ask Secretary of the Navy Forrestal to release him from officer training and assign him to the ship as a seaman. It was done before the family knew anything about it.

His naval career was spent in the Caribbean with no sign of the enemy. "I led a rather relaxed life," he admitted upon his return to Harvard. There, his driving energy and tenacity won him a place on the football team although he was only 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed only 160 pounds. He was graduated in 1948. Virginia Law School and marriage to Ethel Skakel of Greenwich, Conn., followed.

In Washington Kennedy and his wife lived in McLean, Va., with their ten children. He played tennis and golf, loved "touch" football, rode horseback and skin dived. He did not smoke and rarely drank.

Pleads Guilty Of Petty Theft

Kenneth Leland Little, 19, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a new complaint charging petty theft from a Northwestern Pacific Railroad car in San Rafael March 12.

He originally was jointly accused with Ronald David Halverson, 19, of San Rafael, of burglary of the car. Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled judgment for Little, of Los Ranchitos, for 9:30 a.m. July 2.

Halverson has been bound over to Marin Superior Court for trial on two felony counts, burglary of the car in San Rafael on March 12, and concealing stolen property in his apartment.

What's The Future Of Strong Politics?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You sit there looking at television and you wonder: will the shooting of John Kennedy, Martin Luther King and now Robert Kennedy frighten politicians from taking strong, controversial positions on the home screen?

Will there be a stifling fear, in the back of politicians' minds, that if they speak out toughly and intensely on key issues, some potential assassin sitting out there in the audience may make an attempt on their lives? Does, indeed, a still tongue—or at least a tactful one—make for a happy life?

Communications theorist Marshall McLuhan may well have hit on a brilliant truism when he noted that television is basically a cool medium. Hot, intense personalities register with an enormous impact on video, and to the great discomfort of some viewers.

Of the recent presidents who caused the least ripples on television, one must think of Dwight Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson. Both Kennedys stirred either great love or enmity.

And as you sit there looking at television, you wonder also how much the permissiveness of modern American society, as reflected by video, encourages crackpots and-or comspirators to believe they can get away with their schemes.

You turn on your set each evening, and you see guns galore, glazing away, and then some smooth spokesman for the television industry says that video doesn't really cause violence—that people know it's all for fun. And you turn on the news, and you hear some brilliant analyst making a halfway apology for rioters and looters who cause death and robbery. Anything goes, right? So why not try it. If you're not a great intellect, you may not intellectualize all the angles.

The NBC-TV local station offered a splendid example here last night. The last item or so on the evening newscast concerned gun control and showed Kennedy discussing it some days ago. And then the news was over — and immediately following came the Western series "The Virginian," with guns prominent.

I'm not convinced about collective guilt—but it does seem that the television industry could do more than it is doing to play down unnecessary violence and permissiveness. It isn't censorship. In most cases, it's just a matter of taste. Consider a good movie, "Bonnie and Clyde." While it was well done, the countless film offshoots—including television ads—tend to glamorize hoodlums, no matter how campy.

Bayside School Urged For Recreation Use

The possibility of using Sausalito School District's abandoned Bayside School as a city recreation center cropped up last night.

City councilmen were reviewing the proposed 1968-69 parks and recreation budgets when Recreation Commissioner Elmo V. Maggiora suggested the possibility of using the school gymnasium.

The school buildings were abandoned because they did not meet the state's earthquake resistance standards.

BARGE AS CENTER?

Last month the recreation commission proposed the purchase of a barge for use as a community center at the foot of Litho Street on city property.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson said, "If there is a possibility they (the school district) will let the city use it, now's the time for action."

Although the buildings don't meet the state's "stringent" requirements on earthquake resistance, they would be suitable for recreation use, said Patterson. "We could use the gymnasium."

The Council agreed that Patterson's salary should be boosted to $18,300 a year.

For Patterson now receiving $15,900 a year, the pay boost will represent a 15 per cent increase.

MAYOR'S MOTION

Councilmen commended Patterson for his work and were considering a 13.5 per cent pay hike, when Mayor Earl F. Dunphy recommended that it be a 15 per cent boost.

Councilmen reviewed a proposed $24,168 park budget, up $4,424 from last year, with increases mainly in the capital outlay category.

Among the projects are resurfacing of the tennis courts at South View Park, $3,700; upgrading of the city fishing pier along the Trident restaurant, $1,500; extension of the Turney street boat launching ramp, $1,000; and a work vehicle, possibly a pickup truck or three-wheeler, $1,700.

RAMP FEE STUDY

Councilmen suggested that use at the boat launching ramp be checked to determine the feasibility of instituting a charge for launching.

Councilmen also gave tentative approval to three park projects in the proposed capital improvement budget.

Funds for the development of Princess Park, Bridgeway at Princess Street, $17,500, was given priority for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Also were included were $8,500 as the first allotment of a three-year, $30,000 program for development of Gabrielson Park, near Vina Del Mar Plaza, once proposed as a city library site.

The largest sum, $20,000, was included for the first year allotment toward a five-year, $100,000 project to develop a central waterfront park.

OTHER BUDGETS

Councilmen also reviewed the proposed, $6,827 recreation budget, down $1,053 from the current budget, with the decrease mainly in operation and maintenance.

With a proposed review of the library budget postponed until an indefinite date, councilmen tentatively approved a $11,121 parking lot budget, up $205, containing a pay increase for the parking attendant pay scale from $1.50-$1.60 an hour to $1.55-$1.65 an hour.

Also tentatively approved was a $6,561 budget for public buildings and land, down $2,857 from the current budget. It included $300 for renovation at City Hall.

The council will review the proposed Public Works Department and library budgets at 7:30 p.m. today (June 6) at City Hall.

Garbage Service Restrainer Gets Court Extension

A temporary order restraining Larry's Sanitary Service of Santa Rosa from soliciting business from the customers of another West Marin garbage company was extended in Marin Superior Court yesterday until July 30 trial.

The action by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner came after attorneys for the Santa Rosa firm and Eugenia Andronis, owner of West Marin-San Geronimo Valley Garbage Disposal Service, waived a scheduled hearing yesterday to establish whether there was sufficient cause to issue a preliminary injunction.

The temporary order was signed May 21 on a complaint by Mrs. Andronis accusing her former manager, Dino R. Lucchesi and Larry's Sanitary Service of using confidential customer information from the Andronis files.

The suit asks $100,000 damages and a permanent injunction. Trial will start at 10 a.m. before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

The Santa Rosa firm began serving the West Marin area about three months ago.

Things Are Backfiring For Giants' Skipper

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Giants are "all shook up" about their slump.

Manager Herman Franks continues to shake up his lineup and the moves keep backfiring, and he admits it.

"All of us are going bad," Franks said yesterday before the Giants lost to Philadelphia, 2-1. "I put new people in and they don't do the job. I'll shake up the lineup a little today and maybe we'll snap out of it."

INFIELD CHANGES

His shakeup included playing rookie Frank Johnson at shortstop for the first time and using utility man Nate Oliver at second base.

Sure enough, the strategy backfired as Oliver's first-inning error allowed the Phillies to score their second run—the winning tally in Woody Fryman's fifth straight complete game victory.

And guess who made the other error?

It was a bobble by Johnson in the sixth, although it didn't cost the Giants any more damage.

Willie Mays' leadoff homer in the second inning, his 10th of the year, was the Giants' only bright spot in their sixth loss in seven games.

It tied Mays for the National League homer lead and was his 1,132nd extra base hit, tying him with Tris Speaker for fifth on the all-time list.

"When you're going bad, everything goes wrong," lamented Franks after the game.

He could have been referring also to the sparse turnout of 3,018, lowest crowd in Candlestock Park history. The previous low was 3,261 in 1964.

Loser Gaylord Perry, 6-3, allowed only three hits after the first inning while trying for his fifth straight win.

SACRIFICE FLY

Cookie Rojas opened the game with a single, stole second, went to third on a grounder and scored on Tony Gonzalez' sacrifice fly.

Back-to-back singles by John Callison and Bill White preceded Oliver's error on Tony Taylor's grounder, for an unearned run and a 2-0 lead.

Mays' homer, the 574th of his career, snapped a string of 38 1-3 innings in which Fryman, now 8-4, had not allowed an earned run.

Rich Talent Pool Set For Two Newcomers

For $10 million entry fees into the National League, Montreal and San Diego get the privilege of picking expansion baseball teams from a pool of 250 players. Each pick will cost $200,000. That's the way the present 10 teams of the league are dividing the entry fees.

Each team is putting 25 players in the pool. Stated another way, each team is permitted to protect 15 players on its 40 man roster. It is a much more equitable arrangement than the deal given the Mets and Astros in the 1962 expansion.

Chub Feeney of the Giants and Lee MacPhail of the Yankees worked out details of the new expansion. They did a good job of it, too. In 1962 the Mets and Astros were given the pick of culls.

Ten Top-Flight Players

This time each expansion team definitely will get 10 top flight players in first round choices. After first round picks, the established clubs will be permitted to recall three additional players from the pool. After the second round, they will recall three more, and so on.

In addition to picking from the pool, the expansion clubs may dip into the farm clubs of the established teams for hidden talent. But in these days of common drafts and intensified scouting, it is almost impossible to hide a sleeper.

"Those expansion teams are going to get some awfully good men," said Herman Franks. "It just isn't going to be possible for any club to protect all the men they'd like to."

Problem Of Protection

Makeup of the 15-player team each established club freezes should be its eight man starting lineup, an extra catcher and six pitchers, four starters and two bullpen men.

Name the starting eight-man lineup of the Giants, if you can. Of course, No. 1 is Willie Mays. But what outfielders would you freeze to protect Mays flanks? Yes, Jim Ray Hart is the inevitable left field choice.

But think about right field a moment. Ollie Brown? Jay Alou? Dave Marshall? And don't forget Bobby Bonds, a member of the 40-man roster on loan to Phoenix this year. Surely, a future potential star like Bonds can't be left unprotected.

One Dreadful Squeeze

What about the infield? Willie McCovey is on first. That's definite. Do you protect your double play combination of Hal Lanier and Ron Hunt? Common sense would seem to demand that, after all the previous trouble there. Third base? Frank Johnson? What about Bobby Ethridge, another roster man on loan to Phoenix.

The four starting pitchers? Doesn't seem to be any problem there. Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Mike McCormick and Ray Sadecki. The bullpen men? After Frank Linzy, it's difficult picking a No. 2 relief man.

The catchers? Dick Dietz and Bob Barton? Or did somebody shout "You can't let Jack Hiatt get away?"

It will be a dreadful squeeze trying to protect everyone worthy of protection.

Hub Softballers Win Two Games

Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo ran its season softball record to 26-11 with a pair of wins in the Santa Rosa Recreation League yesterday in Santa Rosa.

The Treemen, with Gary Swarm running his record to 7-1 and scoring the winning run, took the Santa Rosa Merchants, 6-5, then came back to down the Windsor Merchants, 2-0, behind Dave Schallenberger's 10-strikeout three-hitter.

Howard Homers, A's Lose

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is supposed to be a good season for pitchers and a poor season for hitters in the American League.

Somebody forgot to tell Frank Howard.

The season is not one-third old yet, and Howard already has 21 homers to go with a .355 batting average.

TWO-RUN SHOT

His latest blast came in the sixth inning with Ed Stroud on base last night and helped the Washington Senators defeat the Oakland A's 3-1.

Howard also hit a double and single in the Senator's second straight win over the A's.

Chuck Dobson, 2-5, seeks to salvage a victory in the series before the A's go on to Baltimore when he faces Frank Bertaina, 3-4, tonight.

Stroud was safe on Ted Kubiak's error leading off the sixth before Howard connected off Diego Segui, who relieved Lew Krausse.

RBI SINGLES

The Senators' first run came in the first inning as Howard's single drove in Stroud, who doubled.

Camilo Pascual went the first six innings for Washington and won his fifth game. Darold Knowles checked the A's for the remaining three innings.

Krausse held the Senators to three hits in five innings but left for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Oakland got its run in the fourth on Kubiak's single, a groundout and Floyd Robinson's single.

USC Captures All-Sports Cup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Southern California won 5 of the Pacific-8 Conference's 10 championships en route to capturing the loop's All-Sports Cup for the past year.

The Trojans won in football, swimming, baseball, track and field, and tennis, Thomas J. Hamilton, the league's executive director, pointed out yesterday.

Southern California has won the cup four of the six years it has been given. UCLA won it the past two years.

UCLA, the basketball hampion, was runnerup in four other sports — wrestling, tennis, football and crew—to place second in the all-sports competition.

Stanford, Washington, California and Oregon State, with one championship each finished in that order, followed by Oregon and Washington State.

Banana Ball Kick Beats The Clippers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Enrique Mateos booted a goal on a banana ball kick and gave the Cleveland Stokers a 3-2 victory over the Oakland Clippers in the North American Soccer League last night.

What's a banana ball in soccer? Norman Low, the Cleveland coach, used that phrase in describing Mateos' kick on a free kick because it curved around the defense and went through the goal unnoticed by Oakland goalie Mirko Stojanovic.

Oakland led 2-1 on its home pitch until Armancio Cid scored the tying goal for Cleveland at 27:20 of the second half. Mateos' winning kick, which put Cleveland back on top in the Lakes Division, came at 43:30.

The St. Louis Stars, playing at home, battled to a scoreless tie with the Vancouver Royals in the other scheduled game. St. Louis goalie Barny Vidinic made a great save in the second half on a shot by Vancouver's Wai Cheung.

BERKELEY (UPI) — John Erby, star guard on the University of California football teams of 1960-62 who lost a foot in Vietnam, will begin duties as an assistant football coach at the University of California July 1.

Erby, a Negro, was appointed yesterday.

Negro members of the football team boycotted the final days of spring training in a dispute over alleged discrimination in the athletic department.

A spokesman for the protestors, fullback John McGaffie, said he was overjoyed that Erby would join the staff.

But he declined comment on ment would satisfy the demands of the black athletes, who also sought the firing of two assistants.

"We hope to be playing but that's up in the air," he said.

Erby was named most valuable lineman for UC in 1961 and most inspirational player in 1962. He played a key role in Cal's 21-14 upset of Washington in 1961 when he blocked a punt.

The hiring of Erby follows the appointment of another Negro former California athletic star, Earl Robinson. The latter will serve as assistant basketball coach.

Before the drafting started, Commissioner William D. Eckert expressed sorrow over the death of Robert Kennedy and asked everyone to stand for a moment of silence in tribute to the late senator from New York.

The Oakland A's, who had the second choice, picked Pete Broberg, a right-handed pitcher from Palm Beach, Fla.

Laver Expected To Whip Pancho

PARIS (AP) — It took him 19 years but Pancho Gonzales has again reached the semifinals of the French tennis championships. He didn't make the finals then and he's not expected to do it now.

"I never thought I would be back here again with a chance to make the final," said Gonzales. "Thank heavens for open tennis."

The 40-year-old Californian faces Rod Laver of Austalia, king of the professionals, in one of today's all-pro semifinals. The other pairs Australia's Ken Rosewall against Andres Gimeno of Spain.

In the women's semis, Mrs. Billie Jean King, a pro from Long Beach, Calif., plays her old rival, Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., now the top American amateur, and another pro, England's Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, meets Mrs. Annette du Plooy, a South African amateur.

Gonzales disposed of Australia's Roy Emerson 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4 yesterday and then recalled that he lost to Budge Patty in the 1949 semifinls. Later that year he won his second U.S. championship and then turned pro.

In women's quarter-finals, Mrs. King beat Brazil's Maria Bueno 6-4, 6-4; Miss Richey trounced Mexico's Elena Subirats 6-1, 6-0; Mrs. Jones easily disposed of Mrs. Vlasta Vopickova of Czchoslovakia 6-2, 6-1 and Mrs. Du Plooy eliminated Gail Sheriff of Austraia 8-6, 6-3.

Sports Writers Pick Drysdale Player Of Month

CINCINNATI (AP) — An overwhelming majority of 50 baseball writers has selected Don Drysdale, who posted five shutouts in May, as National League Player of the Month for May.

Drysdale, who also has hurled one shutout in June to run his record consecutive shutout streak to six, turned in a 0.53 earned run average in May and completed five of eight starts.

Pitching 68 innings in May, Drysdale, now 7-3, allowed 46 hits, struck out 45 and walked 12. He lost only one game last month.

Vicky Rogers Faces Aussie Tennis Star

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Margaret Smith Court of Australia slammed her way into the semifinals of Britain's Northern Lawn Tennis Championships today with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif.

Unseeded Miss Ziegenfuss, 18, was no match for the powerful Mrs. Court, seven times Australian champion and twice winner at Wimbledon.

Valerie, ranked ninth in the United States but unseeded in the championships, served badly throughout.

Vicky Rogers, an 18-year-old New York girl, eliminated Ceci Martinez of San Francisco to reach the semifinal.

Vicky, who upset Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis, in the second round, took little time in defeating 21-year-old Ceci 6-2, 6-3.

But another American girl went out when Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., lost in three sets to British Wightman Cup player Virginia Wade 6-3, 1-6, 6-1.

A 'Grand' Night For Joe Pepitone

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a simply grand evening for Joe Pepitone and Dave Johnson but not so good for Buddy Bradford.

Pepitone drove in six runs—four of them with a grand slam home run—leading the New York Yankees to a 7-2 romp over Minnesota last night.

Johnson also tagged a grand slam and Baltimore belted California 7-1.

But Bradford was $5 lighter in the wallet as the first victim of Eddie Stanky's campaign to wake up his Chicago White Sox. The Sox bowed 1-0 to Cleveland and Bradford was the only player to violate Stanky's new Golden Rules.

In other American League action yesterday, Detroit nipped Boston 5-4 and Washington clipped Oakland 3-1.

Pepitone unloaded his fourth career grand slam and second against Dean Chance in the first inning and the Yankees coasted after that. Horace Clarke led off with a single and Roy White and Mickey Mantle walked before Pepitone connected.

In the fifth inning, after the Twins had cut the lead in half on consecutive homers by Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva, White and Mantle walked, setting up Pepitone again. This time Joe hit a sinking liner that got past Ted Uhlaender's diving try and rolled to the wall for a triple.

Mel Stottlemyre, 7-4, coasted with a five-hitter, disturbed only by the consecutive homers by Killebrew and Oliva.

A single by Brooks Robinson and two walks loaded the bases for Baltimore against California's Clyde Wright in the fifth inning and Johnson sliced a 315-foot homer just inside the right field foul line.

Curt Motton had homered earlier for the Orioles and Jim Hardin coasted with a five-hitter for his seventh victory.

Bradford failed to score a runner from third base with less than two out—one of three sins Stanky has decided will cost the White Sox $5 for every violation. The others are failure to advance a runner who reached second with less than two out and failure to advance a runner in a bunt situation.

The ground rules were installed after Chicago had dropped 3-2 and 2-1 decisions at the hands of the Indians. The improvement was not immedately noticable.

Astros Trick Cards, But Still Lose

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Astros pulled a sneaky trick on the red-faced St. Louis Cardinals and wound up with as much to show for it as the Pittsburgh Pirates, who caused their own embarrassment.

The Astros and Cardinals were locked in a 1-1 deadlock in the seventh inning last night when Julian Javier of St. Louis was tagged out at second base on the old hidden ball trick.

But the Cardinals wiped the egg off their faces and unloaded consecutive hits by Curt Flood, Roger Maris and Orlando Cepeda in the eighth for a run that sent them to a 3-1 victory, their eighth straight.

Pittsburgh never had that chance to make amends as Los Angeles scored in the last of the 10th inning for a 2-1 victory when Maury Wills and Jerry May let in the winning run with errors on the same play.

Gary Nolan, troubled by a sore arm most of the season, left hard-hitting Atlanta a bit chagrined by stopping the Braves on three hits in pitching Cincinnati to a 10-0 rout.

In afternoon games in the National League, Tom Seaver and the New York Mets halted the Chicago Cubs 4-2, and Woody Fryman hurled Philadelphia b San Francisco 2-1 with a six-hitter.

Houston's moment for joy came after Javier singled and reached second base with two out as St. Louis pitcher Larry Jaster bunted and was thrown out by losing hurler Larry Dierker with second baseman Julio Gotay covering first base.

Gotay, a former Cardinal who failed to win the second base job from Javier in the early 1960s, kept the ball and walked back to second base and first baseman Rusty Staub went in to chat with Dierker. Javier stepped off the bag and, surprise, Gotay finally got him off second.

But the first-place Cardinals wasted little time erasing the glee of the Astros and saddled them with a fifth consecutive loss on Cepeda's hit and a run-scoring double by Lou Brock in the ninth.

Jaster, 4-2, allowed only six hits and the run off him was only the second earned marker he has given in 33 1-3 innings this season. He left after walking the first hitter in the ninth and rookie Wayne Granger retired the next three batters.

Bill Singer, 5-5, of the Dodgers and Al McBean, also 5-5, of Pittsburgh were locked in a 1-1 duel when embarrassment set in on the Pirates. Paul Popovich opened the 10th with a single and Versalles forced him at second. After Ron Fairly batted for Singer and popped out, the fun began when Wes Parker singled to center.

The throw from the outfield to third base got by Wills, extra embarrassing for a former Dodger who had his greatest days in Dodger Stadium. Versalles tried to score on the error and did when catcher May dropped the throw home.

Nolan, a rookie sensation in 1967, was making only his second start this season and had the Braves hanging their heads as he didn't allow a runner past second base. He had plenty of support as Lee May and Tony Perez each slammed two-run homers and Perez drove in two more with a single.

Seaver, given only 19 runs in his first 11 starts, raised his record to 3-5 although he left in the eighth inning with a pulled muscle in his left side. He also ignited a three-run fifth inning with a single.

6 O'Clock Games Tough On Batters, Not Fans

OAKLAND—This is all about 6 p.m.; precisely 6 p.m., a time unsung by poets unobserved by historians, perhaps unnecessary to the scheme of things.

Now, though, Charles O. Finley has brought recognition to that fragment of time, that straight up-and-down clocking that may not seem so exciting as 12:30 but is nonetheless crucial to this baseball year.

Mr. Finley's Oakland Athletics are playing several of their Coliseum games with a 6 p.m. starting time. These contests come mostly on Saturdays, but there was an interesting one on a weekday — Wednesday, May 8, to be exact, when James Hunter flung his perfect game.

THE LEGALISTIC addenda of the national pastime are wary, or at least give the impression of being confused, over what a 6 p.m. game actually is — day or night? If the game begins before 6:01 p.m., it is considered a day game. But rarely does a game listed for 6 p.m. start until, perhaps, 6:02 or 6:03. The scriveners observing the A's gyrations this season are uniting in referring to a 6 p.m.-er as "last night's game."

That out of the way, two more significant points of reference concerning 6 p.m. and the A's must be considered.

2—Attendance, the effect thereon.

THE MINNESOTA Twins who swung haplessly at Hunter's offerings on May 8 contend Jim got his "perfecto" because they couldn't see, although the Twins have no explanation why their own hurler didn't pitch perfectly, too, that evening (or day, as you wish). In subsequent 6 p.m. outings at the Coliseum, no pitcher has come close to a 27 up-and-down job, although most have been low-hit, low-score contests. Still, the majority of ALL games at the Coliseum have been low-hit, low-score. The American League behaves generally in the manner of offensive futility.

So cross off the Minny complaint as poor-mouthing, sour-graping, bad-rapping Jimmy boy's mound brilliamce.

BUT HOW ABOUT the 6 p.m. game incident May 25, when Al Kaline, that hardy Detroit perennial, was hit on the arm by a pitch and reduced to disability for 21 days.

The Tigers, who won the game anyway, contend Al was bopped only because he couldn't see the pitch. This is not bad-rapping; even the A's begrudgingly agree about the poor vision of these "twilight" frays.

IN THE EARLY innings at that hour, the pitcher stands mostly in sunlight . . . the infield's in shadows, the outfield's lighted with the brilliance of Charlton Heston during DeMille's Sermon on the Mount scene in "Ten Commandments."

Observing the ball — at high speed — emerging from that background is a massive Excedrin headache for the batter. He merits applause for grounding out.

FINLEY LIKES 6 p.m. starts on Saturday so the fans can split the ball park early and "still have time for a steak dinner." This premise may have worked well in Kansas City, where a Saturday night steak dinner can be the most exciting event of a generation; here, there are other things to do on a Saturday night. On the assumption you've tried life's infinite variety, I won't list the possibilities.

Special promotions (such as giving away an Edsel, used of course) have indeed attracted Saturday "evening" patronage. Frankly, as one who doesn't bat — although I moved well to my right while playing second base in a Chicago 16-inch softball league — I prefer the 6 p.m. starting time to Finley's usual 7:30 night games.

I'M WONDERING if the A's 7:30 time isn't an oddball hour. The Giants begin a half hour later, which gives a guy more time to digest his wife's eventide offerings. But at 7 the commuter from Hayward or Contra Costa County or San Rafael must be too darned tired from fighting the commute to turn right around and head for the Coliseum.

Better, methinks, that he go straight to the ball park from work, or have the wifey and kiddies pick him up at the office and dine on the Coliseum "Colossals," franks mit kraut.

FINLEY NEEDS no advice (ask fired vice president Bill Cutler), but it doesn't hurt to suggest he try a steadier diet of 6 p.m. affairs. If the public buys it, the ballplayers must contend with the poor lighting. We're the folks who should be calling the shots anyway. (Naivete, where is thy sting?)

No Americans Left In British Golf

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Ireland's Joe Carr, a three-time winner, eliminated the last American in the British Amateur Golf Championship today by beating Warren Vanderbush of Closter, N.J., 3 and 2, in the fifth round.

Earlier, in the morning's fourth round, the 23-year-old airman had won while the two other Americans, Ed Meister and Robert Willen, had been eliminated.

Vanderbush beat Belgium's Pierre Toussaint 1-up.

Meister, a 49-year-old publisher from Willoughby, Ohio, bowed to Scotland's Alistair Wilson 2 and 1. Willen, 28, of Westbury, N.Y., lost to Scotland's Gordon Cosh, a British Walker Cup player, 4 and 3.

Carr, 46, took a one-hole lead over Vanderbush at the halfway mark. He stretched it to two at the 12th hole, the turning point of the match.

Carr hit a bad drive on the 12th while the American got a good one down the middle. But both wound up 10 yards from the pin in 3. Carr chipped up deftly for a 5 while Vanderbush needed 3 from just off the green and lost the hole.

They halved the next two holes. Then Carr, the captain of the British Walker Cup team, went 3-up when the American bunkered both his second and third shots.

Vanderbush, an airman first class, competed here on a trip sponsored by the U.S. Air Force. He was given a leave of absence. His mother and father followed him all the way.

Other fourth round winners included Mike Bonallack, a two-time winner of the title from England, and seeded Ronnie Shade of Scotland.

Bonallack, 33, beat countryman Bob Gorton, 4 and 3. Shade, 29, downed John Glover of England, 5 and 4.

A strong wind swept the 7,130-yard, par 36-37—73, Troon links. Ocassionally rain added to the difficulties.

Vanderbush went out in 36 and was 2-up at the turn. He held that lead after 14 holes but lost the 15th and 16th to go all square.

He played a fine chip at the short 17th and sank a four-foot putt for his par. The Belgian was in the rough off the tee and finished with a 4. That sent Vanderbush 1-up again. They halved the 18th hole in par figures and the match was over.

Meister, who entered the tourney only because he was here on a business trip, started off fine. He was 2-up after the first nine. But Wilson won the 10th and then swept the 12th through 15th holes to go 3-up on the American.

Meister cut the lead to two by taking the 16th but he went out when they halved the 17th.

Cosh, 29, a semifinalist two years ago, was never behind. He made the turn 2-up and won the 14th and 15th in par figures to close out the match.

Billy Casper Heads Pro Golf Field

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Veteran Billy Casper, the PGA's leading money winner, and Larry Hinson, a young Georgian who turned pro nine weeks ago, headed the 142-man field starting the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament today.

Sam Snead, the 56-year-old swinging master from West Virginia, also was among the entries as he prepared for another try at winning his first U.S. Open next week.

Casper, the only three-time victor this year and winner of the Speedway event in 1962 and 1966, was the pre-tourney favorite. But a possible duel with the tour's hottest player, Bob Lunn, was erased yesterday.

Lunn withdrew from the tourney because his daughter is hospitalized with pneumonia at Atlanta where the 23-year-old Californian won his second straight tournament Sunday. With his $23,000 payoff at Atlanta, Lunn moved into sixth place among the money winners.

Other withdrawals, including veteran Doug Ford who injured his hand at his home in Tuckahoe, N.Y., reduced the field from the original 150.

Casper, whose winnings total $104,243, shot a one-over-par 73 in the pro-amateur tuneup over the 7,179-yard Speedway course Wednesday. His tee-to-green game was sharp, but a two-week layoff since the Memphis Open showed in his putting.

The 6-foot-2, 150-pound Hinson shot the day's best score with 66. He had five birdies on the back nine for 31. His effort was worth $500.

Hinson, 23, Douglas, Ga., who won the NCAA college division championship in June, 1967 while at East Tennessee State, had polio in his left arm when he was 5 years old. But he says the arm, strengthened by exercise, helps him play better.

"It's a fraction shorter," he said, "and it helps me square up to the ball. Others have to lean into the ball."

Hinson has survived cuts in all five tournaments he has played.

"This is where I have it over the guys who haven't made the cuts," he said. "The experience comes in those last two days of the tournament."

His best finish was 15th at Memphis.

Snead, playing in his first Speedway tourney, shot 71 — including a 75-foot birdie with a wedge on No. 8.

Kentuckian Frank Beard, who won the $20,000 Speedway first prize last year, had 74.

Rod Funseth, who led the first three rounds of the 1967 Speedway Open and finished runner-up, shot 68, tying Jerry Steelsmith and Indianapolis pro Billy Maxwell.

Hines Out To Prove He's Best

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "If we ran 10 races, I'd beat him 10 times," Jim Hines said of Tommie Smith. Tomorrow he'll get a chance to prove it.

Jim Hines takes on Smith in the 200-meter dash of the coliseum-Compton track and field meet. Last year Hines won it in 20.4 seconds.

The electrifying exceleration that brings Smith from behind on the final straightaway is well known to Hines. So the Texas Southern University runner raced out quickly, took a big lead on the turn and beat Tommie.

Smith gained revenge twice after that defeat, winning furlong races at the National AAU meet and in the USA-Commonwealth meet.

"I love to run the curve," said Hines. "If you're going to beat Smith, you have to get your lead there and blast all the way to the tape. That's the only way I know how to run."

Using that strategy, Hines has fashioned a 20.3 clocking this year along with a 100-yard time of 9.2 and a 10-meter time of 10.1. Both 100 times are a tenth second off the world mark.

Hines said one of his main assets lately has been his start. Training under former Olympic sprint star Bobby Morrow, Hines said he seems to be starting better out of the blocks.

Some Husky Salmon Landed; Rock Fishing Fun For Family

STEVENS

Perseverance, like virtue, is its own reward. And F. F. Tregon of San Mateo proved it when week after week he boarded a party boat at the Sausalito Boat and Tackle spot in Sausalito and headed for sea after salmon.

On June 6, according to Bete Urbais of the harbor at Sausalto, he boarded the good ship Inabelle with Hal Maguire at the helm, for another trip after the elusive salmon. Tregon hooked a nice salmon, skillfuly maneuvered his hookup to the side of the boat where it was brought aboard, for all to envy. A very beautiful Chinook that weighed in at 33 pounds. Congratulations, Tregon.

BETE URBAIS reported the average fish per rod on Monday at one. Not a very hot report as far as salmon are concerned, but a sure indication that salmon are running at present. The Inabelle worked the area off Double Point, as did most of the salmon fleet. Also, reported by Bete was the 25-pound Chinook hooked and landed by Roberta White of Sonoma, and the 21-pound beauty boated by Charles Dier of San Anselmo on May 30.

The large rock-fishing boat, the Blue Horizon, had a field day recently. Seventeen limits of assorted deep sea fish, 17 limits of rockfish and 15 ling cod to 32 pounds were boxed on Saturday. (The Blue Horizon goes out for rock fish on Thursday and Saturdays).

"I'M A CONVERT to deep sea rock fishing," is the opening phrase of a letter received in the mail. "I have fished for every other species of fish — trout, black bass, crappies and other fresh water fish. I have handled my share of striped bass, salmon and steelhead. But that was mainly when I was a bachelor some years ago, before I became a husband and a father. Today I take my gang on a deep sea rockfishing trip. Perhaps this recreation is hard to understand in a guy that formerly held a rock fisherman in low esteem. But, to me, there is a satisfactory feeling of accomplishment. And, above all, I have my family with me. As you once said at a meeting, the real thrill of such a trip is the mystery of what species of fish you will bring up from the bottom, maybe two hundred feet below the surface. As far as the lack of gameness goes, tell your readers to rig up with very small hooks and fish around six feet below the surface where small bluefish congregate. Catch one and remove the hook from its mouth and fasten it just under the dorsal fin, being very careful not to strike the backbone as this will kill the bait fish, and the hungry ling is liable to pass up a dead minnow."

THE WRITER concludes his short letter by suggesting that I devote one column to deep sea rock fishing. "For family fishing there is nothing to compare," he said.

I am thoroughly in accord with the writer who must remain nameless.

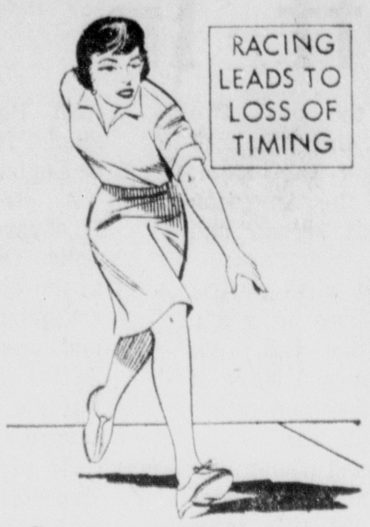
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



RACING LEADS TO LOSS OF TIMING

Do you speed up the approach as the evening wears on? The muscles become looser and the bowler feels stronger, and, without knowing it, she is racing to the foul line. The result, unfortunately, is a loss of timing. The bowler begins to force her delivery and the ball is less effective. If your bowling suddenly turns sour in the middle of a league session, ask yourself if you are still walking to the approach or if you are running.

Don't Look Now— Football Ahead

Don't look now, but there's a football game on tap tomorrow.

No, it's not an NFL exhibition game. That's next month.

This one's right here in Marin and it will give Terra Linda fans a chance to see what next year's Trojan squad looks like in an intra-squad scrimmage tomorrow afternoon at four.

The Trojans, co-champions of the Marin County Athletic League for the past two years, will put on display junior and sophomore lettermen, as well as upcoming frosh and members of the jayvee teams.

PLENTY OF SIGNALS— Speaking of football, next year in the MCAL will without a doubt be the year of the quarterback.

Just looking at them is enough to see a whole planeful of footballs hitting the air.

Don Mackin, for two years running one of the top signal callers in Northern California, will be back at Tamalpais.

Redwood's Jim Peters should have all the roughness polished off and will be trying to improve on his No. 2 yardage total in the MCAL.

Also back is talented Russ Dillon of Novato, who was one of the top passers in the league until an injury sidelined him and the Hornets.

Terra Linda has Jerry Goodrick, who looked great in fill-in spots and there is a rumor going around that the Trojans will come up with a supersoph.

All in all, it should turn out to be a wide open, arm-cracking season.

Tamalpais High School has announced its spring sports award.

Mike Einstein was named most valuable on the baseball squad and sprinter Alan Lee was most valuable Tam trackman.

Other awards were:

Baseball — Wendell McReynolds, most improved; Kerry Tusup, Stagg award, Frosh— Leif Lee, most improved.

Track—Robbie Coleman, most improved, Dan Payne, most inspirational; Luther Brown, Stagg award. Bees—Bill Baker, most improved; Bruce Boyd, Stagg award. Frosh—Mike Wood, most improved; Richard Brown, Stagg award.

Swimming Chris Averill, most valuable; Chuch Gorrill, most inspirational. Bees—Lowery McFerrin, most improved; Tom Anderson, Mark Simpson and Howie Young, Stagg award.

Golf—Craig Smith, most valuable.

Tennis — Andy Moffet, most valuable; Terry Moor, most inspirational; Jeff Griffith, Stagg award.

ROAD TEST YOUR CAR

Shocks don't sound their failure by stopping your car, as a battery or other parts do. Here's how to test your car for dangerous, worn-out shocks:

Wheel bounce or "shimmy" could be the result of worn shock absorbers. A result can be loss of control and a dangerous and uncomfortable ride.

If your car dips sharply at stops or if a bumper drags at your driveway the chances are your shock absorbers are too old and need replacing.

Check your tires. If wear is uneven or there are "bald" spots, you may need new shocks. Uneven tire wear can be dangerous and costly.

Bounce on a bumper. If the car bounces more than 1¼ times after you step down, it may be time to visit Wards for a set of new shocks.

Strong Market Gains As Active Issues Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed strong today with wide gains made by selected issues. Trading was active.

The ticker tape was late in the final minutes as the over-all market held most of a substantial gain on average.

Bunker-Ramo (new) had a big lead as most-active stock, holding a gain of about a point.

Virtually all of the 20 most-active issues were gainers.

Brunswick, Sunasco, Glen Alden, Ashland Oil, Occidental Petroleum, Goodrich and Santa Fe held sizable gains.

Prices near the close included:

Control Data, up 10¾ at 172; American Smelting, up 5¾ at 82¾; Xerox, up 8 at 314; Santa Fe, up 2½ at 37; Bunker, Ramo (new), up 1¼ at 18⅝; Union Pacific, up 3 at 55; Goodrich, up 2¼ at 65; Sunasco, up 2¼ at 20¾; Armour, up 2⅛ at 46¼; and Ashland Oil, up 2½ at 41⅞.

Analysts said the market apparently had discounted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's death.

The advanced resumed again where it left off yesterday after a series of five straight daily gains.

Bunker-Ramo (new) was the most-active stock as it rose a point or more.

Also active, Sunasco, Occidental Petroleum, Goodrich, Fairchild Hiller, Ashland Oil, Hooker Chemical and Armour gained about 2 each while Union Pacific tacked on 3.

Active gainers of a point or more included American Photocopy, Santa Fe and Parke, Davis.

Wider gains were made by the more highly-priced glamor stocks. Control Data gained 8 and Xerox 7.

Up about 2 were IBM, Merck, Du Pont, Phelps Dodge and Kennecott.

Ahead a point or so were Goodyear, International Nickel, General Foods, High Voltage Engineering, M-G-M, Texaco, Standard Oil of Indiana, Liggett & Myers, Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways.

Prices made a solid advance on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Diversities Best For School Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our daughter is 5 years old and we would like to put $500 yearly into growth stocks to help finance her college education. We presently hold Westinghouse Electric. What do you advise? — J. M.

A. Your investment plan is quite feasible and through careful selection should produce ample capital for your purpose, particularly with time working in your favor.

For these earlier years I'd like to suggest one or two of the growing conglomerates because their broad industry diversification seems to offer some hedge against economic contingencies that could occur in a single industry. Two interesting companies come to mind, SCM and Ogden Corp., both listed on the New York Stock Exchange and reasonably priced in relation to projected earnings.

SCM originally produced office equipment but through acquisitions — including Glidden, Allied Paper and Proctor-Silex — has reduced this segment to 27 per cent of total sales. Ogden, active in such diverse areas as shipbuilding, food concessions, scrap metal, food processing and marine terminal operations, should report a good increase in earnings this year.

Westinghouse Electric has extended its earnings recovery into a fifth year and shares should be retained.

Q. My portfolio, chosen for growth in the coming decade, includes Am. Electric Power, Minnesota Mining, IBM, RCA, Merck and Johnson & Johnson. Would you switch Am. Electric to Georgia-Pacific? Please comment on the future of drug stocks considering recent government investigations. — G. R.

A. I will start with your last question. Unfortunately for the drug industry, it is a recurring target for political attack and with elections approaching, activity in this area will probably increase. Thus far, most of the damage has been psychological with little effect on company earnings.

Your drug issues have a well-established record of improvement and should be retained along with 3M, IBM and RCA. The switch you suggest seems consistent with your aims.

Hopefully, in a new peacetime economy, the existing need for new housing should bring a building boom and greatly benefit Georgia-Pacific.

Marin Lacks Control Over Tidelands Acreage

Sometime next year, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission will go out of existence. With it will vanish the "freeze" on development of miles upon miles of privately owned submerged lands on the bay's periphery.

A bill now in the Assembly would extend the controls to 90 days beyond the adjournment of next year's legislative session. Whether there will be any controls on filling and development of these privately owned submerged lands beyond that date will likely be fought out in next year's legislative session.

Powerful interests — the owners of the land — would like to weaken or eliminate the controls. Other powerful interests — allied in the name of conservation — would like to prevent all development along the muddy and often-polluted shores of San Francisco Bay. Working out an acceptable compromise promises to be far from an easy task, and there is at least the possibility that next year's Legislature may adjourn with the job undone.

IN THE MEANTIME, Marin County and its cities that front on the bay have done nothing to establish control over these lands in the event the Legislature fails to act.

Marin County has adopted a series of general plans and master plans for areas fronting the bay: on the Tiburon Peninsula, in Santa Venetia, and in North Marin. None of them, however, includes any zoning or restriction of any kind on the submerged lands.

The nearest thing to county action to control these lands is a bit of wishful thinking in the county parks and recreation master plan. It suggests that offshore lands from China Camp north to the mouth of the Petaluma River should be a wildlife preserve.

Since the county owns virtually none of the acreage in question, the proposal that it all be made a wildlife preserve has at least a tinge of unreality — the more so because most of the publicly owned submerged land in the stretch is part of Hamilton Air Force Base.

There has been one attempt to control the future development of privately owned lands along Marin bay frontage. But that attempt was abandoned because of the attacks launched upon it in the name of conservation.

THE SAN RAFAEL GENERAL Plan prepared by Daniel P. Coleman and William T. Spangle and presented to the city in 1963 showed proposed zoning for all the submerged lands within the San Rafael planning area. It proposed a new highway along the waterfront, running out over the bay across the mouth of Gallinas Bay. This, incidentally, could have provided a link for extension of Highway 17 that would have by-passed the Ross Valley for connection to Point Reyes National Seashore.

It showed uses including commercial recreation, apartments, and parks and recreation along the waterfront on what are now tidelands. A "water park" would be created in Gallinas Bay. A minimum of 25 per cent of all tideland areas would be left in open water. Development of the remainder would make much more of the bay frontage accessible to the public.

Coleman and Spangler's plan brought an outcry (politically inspired) that "San Rafael is planning to fill the bay." The protests were so voluble and bitter that the city council abandoned all mention of the submerged lands in the general plan.

The result is that in San Rafael, as in the unincorporated areas, there will be no control over development of the bay tidelands unless the Legislature acts before the BCDC controls expire.

Committees Delay Committees In Legislative Musical Chairs

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If the committee system is the backbone of a legislature — and it surely is — California's is in need of some corrective surgery.

Those millions of Californians who voted for Proposition 1a two years ago in the belief it was giving them an efficient and full-time Legislature, at good salaries, might be dismayed if they watched an afternoon of committee functioning in Sacramento.

In partial defense of the lawmakers, it is not entirely their fault. They become victims of their own circumstances.

On three, and sometimes four afternoons a week, the committee system in the Legislature is working like a three-ring circus. There is so much going on you can't see it all. And neither can the legislators.

A TYPICAL situation occurred in the important Assembly ways and means committee recently. The W&M committee has 19 members, thus requiring 10 for a quorum. It is one of the real workhorses of the lower house, in terms of the number of bills it must consider.

On this particular afternoon, Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was able to retain an attendance of just 10 members. Thus he told most bill authors that, if they had one vote against their bill, they'd better come back later.

Dozens of bills were put over for two days, with the authors facing the same situation when they returned two days later.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, attempting to miss the mid-afternoon logjam, scheduled a meeting of his judiciary committee for the evening, to hear an important bill on public records. Of the eight members of the committee, Bagley and two others showed up for the session. The result: no meeting.

FOR THE MOST part, the poor attendance at committee sessions is not because the legislators are playing hookey. The problem is that the legislators have bills they want to present to other committees. And they may have to sit around for hours awaiting their turn.

It becomes a sort of musical chairs game — members of one committee are absent from their meeting because they are attending other committee sessions waiting to have bills heard. But the members of that committee are absent because they are back at the first committee waiting in line.

Of course, it always can be pointed out that, the fewer bills that are approved by committees, the fewer the new laws passed. And, the fewer the new laws passed, the better off the public in general.

This is a specious argument. While too many laws are passed, no doubt, it appears to be the intent of the people that the Legislature operate on a full-time basis and give full consideration to all proposals.

In reality, many of the logjams of May and June are spawned in February and March. In those months, the Legislature operates at a pace that could be described, at best, as leisurely. It begins on a Monday afternoon and quits before noon on Thursday.

Non-Loving Act Of Law Enforcer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A small article in Monday's (May 27) I-J upsets me very much. It described a police inspector chasing and forcing a 16-year-old boy to stick out his tongue so that he could collect marijuana off of it.

It seems to me that the most important things in life are human interactions, and that the only moral basis for a law is that it somehow improves human interactions.

It saddens me a great deal to realize from this article that our society has laws which allow an adult to perform a humiliating act on a boy whose actions were harming no one (except perhaps himself). The act of smoking or possessing marijuana or any substance is harming no one else; it is not a hostile act. The police inspector's act is hostile and nonloving. He is the criminal because he has hurt a fellow human being. Imagine how this 16-year-old is going to hate our society after being abused in this manner.

The only way that this boy or the rest of us can be helped is by being treated in a loving way and by treating others in a loving way, just as the Golden Rule says.

French Situation Ahead For U.S.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As one of the silent majority at San Francisco State College, I would like to congratulate you on your editorial of May 31, entitled, "Threat of Violence Hangs Over Commencements."

Unless the undemocratic Students for a Democratic Society and their allies are stopped, this nation is headed toward the same type of anarchy current in France, where, as your front page headline states, "Tanks on Stand-by Within Paris Radius." The result would be, at least, an increase in governmental power, which is a step closer to totalitarianism, and at worst, a Communist dictatorship.

The civil turmoil on our campuses, like that on our streets, can only be successful by the administration's failure to take prompt action or by their abject acquiscence with the trouble makers. This anarchy would end if the presidents and trustees of our universities and colleges would offer no sanctuary to any group which uses force, whether this force by physical, criminal trespass, extortion, or the holding of hostages. Students (and groups) that use these tactics should be immediately expelled and criminally prosecuted.

Another course of action would be to replace those administrators which condone or compromise with student terrorists.

Unless these steps are taken, next year the civil turmoil will be worse, for each time that a violation of individual rights is tolerated, it serves as an invitation for future and bigger violations.

'Green Beret' Singers Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I feel that those Camp Fire Girls that sang "The Green Beret" at the Decoration Day exercises on Thursday deserve special mention in your paper as well as their leaders, especially they who taught them what patriotism meant.

Never have I heard such sweet and sincere voices sing in just this way.

When we hear the young people of today sing like this we should feel uplifted and thank God that all young people are not as they are pictured most of the time.

Trombley Victim Of Petty Spite

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The political whetstone which has been made of Marin County Planning Commissioner Eugene Trombley's actions in regard to the Sandbach Mobile Home Park continues to provide Novatans with a nauseating spectacle of the pettiness and self-serving motives which riddle positions taken by several holders of public office in town. And now, after attempting to usurp his jurisdiction at the county level, and having failed to make a rubber-stamp out of him, these certain members of the Novato Planning Commission and Novato City Council continue, like a pack of jackals, to vent their petty spite sanctimoniously clothed in cries of civic injury.

There is a growing resentment throughout the city concerning the vilification of Commissioner Trombley, and much concern that city officials would desecrate principle with politics. Even the most vociferous of past objectors to the Sandbach Park, the San Marin Home Owners Association, has changed its attitude, many of its members having realized, rather belatedly, that they were grossly misinformed and misled into opposing something which offered them no harm.

Commissioner Trombley is to be admired for his depth of vision, and for his ability to see through these smokescreens. He has taken a very courageous stand for what he thinks to be right and desirable, and in so doing has acted in the best interest of the community, and those middle-aged and elderly people among us who desire a mobile home park in Novato.

Novato needs — and needs badly — men of the caliber of Commissioner Trombley.

Broadcast Subsidy Has Fiscal Problem

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and private officials are wrestling with the problem of formulating a long-range financing plan for the fledgling Public Broadcasting Corp.

Congress authorized the corporation last year in an effort to boost federal support for noncommercial radio and television.

Just barely off the ground, it won't be fully functional until the fiscal year beginning July 1.

AN IMMEDIATE concern is extension of the $9 million authorized last year to create the corporation, which the Johnson administration wants continued through the coming fiscal period.

But on the horizon rests the issue of finding a way to provide permanent federal funding for public broadcasting.

When William D. Carey, assistant Budget Bureau director, appeared before a House Commerce subcommittee last month be outlined three principal techniques which now appear to be available. They were:

—A tax on television and radio sets manufactured—essentially the same proposal advanced by the Carnegie Commission, which orginally developed the concept of a public corporation. The public now spends an estimated $2 billion a year on TV sets.

—A new tax on gross revenues of commercial broadcasters, now totaling about $3 billion annually and rising.

Some plans to make use of general tax revenues.

THE CORPORATION, which will be run by a 15-member board of directors, is forbidden from operating a network of its own. However, it can subsidize programming and help educational stations form a network for specific programs using existing means of transmission.

President Johnson has directed the Budget Bureau, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Treasury to work with the corporation's board and congressional committees in coming up with a permanent plan. But Carey said a preference hasn't been found yet for any of the three avenues he outlined—or a combination of them.

There also is a pending proposal by the Ford Foundation for a system of domestic communication satellites under which some amount of revenues would be made available to improve public broadcasting programming. And a presidential task force is looking into the broad field of telecommunications, including a review of use of domestic satellites.

IN HIS presentation, Carey did raise some eyebrows by mentioning consultations with appropriate congressional units —an indication that tax questions could be directed to the taxwriting House Ways and Means Committee.

But the House Commerce Committee wouldn't be expected to yield any of its jurisdictional domain over general authorizations in the communications field.

Biafrans Are 'Defeated' But War Will Go On

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst.

By all the rules of common sense the Biafrans already had lost their bloody civil war against the federal government of Nigeria and should have been ready to come to terms.

But the Biafrans didn't seem to know it and so one year and one day after the start of the war they walked out of the peace conference in the cool, green hills of Uganda, presumably to continue as guerrillas the war already estimated to have taken 100,000 lives.

THE TROUBLE WAS that in this war, the rules of common sense do not apply.

Its roots lay in the traditional economic and tribal animosity between the energetic and better educated Ibo tribesmen of the Eastern Region which today is called Biafra and the Moslem Hausa tribesmen of the north.

Since Nigerian independence in 1960, the 29 million Hausas had dominated the federal government by size alone.

Then in Janury, 1966, an army revolt led by young and idealistic Ibo majors toppled the federal government which not only had proved itself inept but had sunk deep into corruption, killed its northern prime minister and its ranking northern officers.

As the northerners saw their dominance disappearing, they reacted violently, especially against the one million Ibos who had migrated to the north and through their enterprise and skills taken over most of the better jobs.

SOME 30,000 Ibos died in the wild massacres that followed.

Those who could fled back to the sanctuary of tribal boundaries, in turn touching off a wave of Ibo nationalism and retaliation whose savagery matched that of the Hausa's own.

On May 30, 1967, eight million Ibos elected to secede and the civil war was on.

As mediators sought vainly to bring the two sides to compromise in the Uganda peace talks, federal troops held the Biafran capital of Enugu and had just taken Port Harcourt, Biafra's last link with the outside world.

Federal troops outnumbered the 35,000-man Biafran army two to one.

Future opposition, it seemed, would lie in guerrilla warfare in the Ibo heartland, with the federals certain to take heavy casualties and with the likelihood of savage reprisals against the civilian population.

IN THE UGANDA meetings at Kampala, Biafran negotiators insisted they would settle for nothing less than an immediate cease-fire and recognition of their sovereignty. The federal representatives stood firm on immediate implementation of the 12-state structure proposed by federal leader Mai. Gen. Yakuba Gowan.

If Nigeria is to be saved, compromise is necessary. But, say the Biafrans: "We are totally committed. If extermination is the price we have to pay, then we cannot escape it."

Promptness Saves

California Takes Biggest Tax Bite

California ranks fourth in per capita personal income among the 10 leading industrial states, but first in the share of that income going for property taxes.

This is shown in U.S. Department of Commerce statistics quoted by the California Taxpayers' Association. The figures are for fiscal 1965-66.

California per capita personal income of $3,258 was beyond that of Connecticut, Illinois and New York, but its $62.58 of property taxes per $1,000 of personal income was the highest on the list. It ranked highest also in expenditures for education and welfare.

College Of Marin Provides Kinescope Of Campus Activists

A sample of the revolutionary mood prevalent not only on American college campuses but throughout the world can be seen here in Marin — and on a small enough scale to be easy to observe.

To find out what's on the minds of students these days, one only has to make a noontime visit to College of Marin. On any school day during the lunch hour, there is gathered in the Student Union a milling throng representing all the kinds of kids and non-kids who attend college today.

There are the football players and mini-skirted coeds; there are doll-like girls in student nurses' uniforms; there are scholars who stake out tables and never look up from their books, and, inevitably, there are the student activists.

Although the athletes, cute coeds, scholars and nurses don't seem to be paying much attention to the bearded, long-haired, hippie-dressed campus radicals, there does seem to be an acceptance of them.

Judging from the College of Marin, the number of students who are joining in either violent or non-violent protests against the "establishment" is not large. Their influence, however, seems to be the prevailing force on the campus.

THE COLLEGE of Marin activists at the moment have three main causes. First is "student power," and the opening round in this battle goes to the activists.

A group called Students for Academic Freedom was successful last month in electing many of its candidates for student body offices.

Whether or not it is able to take over completely student government will depend, according to the college newspaper, on whether the student constitution is changed so that the head yell and song leaders no longer have a vote on the executive council.

Since what the college paper calls "old style student government people" were elected to these posts, the SAF would like to have their votes eliminated.

The main aims of the SAF, according to its campaign literature, is for students to have a "real voice" in such matters as curriculum planning, library book selection and revamping of the counseling system.

Second in the current preoccupations of the college activists is "black power." Again the students have been remarkably successful so far. Demands that a "black curriculum" be presented at the college have been listened to by the trustees, and preliminary plans for such a program are being made.

THE COALITION of black and white student radicals seems to be a precarious one, however, and some of the white activists are a little nervous about the militancy of the black students, which is often directed against whites who consider themselves friends of the blacks.

The use of "bad language" by black leaders at students rallies brought a rash of protests, and a threat in the college paper by a Negro student, that "it's the gun because black people have been the victims of Americanism for too long now," was pretty strong for some of the white leaders.

Although "student power" and "black power" have been the main interests of student radicals this spring, they have not forgotten their first cause, protest against the war in Vietnam.

A group called Students Against War is still active, and anti-war and anti-draft sentiments are often intermingled with other proposals in student speeches.

Since examinations are at hand at the college and school is almost over for the year except for summer classes, we may have to wait until next fall to see what's coming next in the campus revolution.

Dance For Pupils

A dance for Edna Maguire School pupils will be sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Community Center, with music by the rock band "Rejoice."

Ark Looted Of Expensive Amplifiers

Four burglaries including the theft of about $2,000 worth of amplifiers from a Marinship ark were reported yesterday by sheriff's officers.

Michael Walter, manager of the Morning Glory Band of San Anselmo, told deputies Monday that four amplifiers were taken from the bandstand of the Ark, an entertainment spot at Gate 6, Waldo Point. A night watchman said the items apparently were taken between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. Sunday.

No forced entry of the ark was evident, officers said.

Burglars jimmied a locked kindergarten classroom door at Gallinas School and a locked storage room door at Santa Venetia School, school officials reported Monday.

Taken from Gallinas School was a tape recorder. Tools valued at $100 total were taken from the storage room. Both schools are on North San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

Ruth Pollakoff, Bolinas, told deputies Monday someone entered her unlocked front door. Taken was a guitar with a braided Mexican strap, and a bottle of wine, she said.

Teachers Seek Protection In 'Blackboard Jungles'

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

A high school in a California district that has received state and national acclaim for its complete intergration program has been described as a "blackboard jungle" by some of its teachers.

The school is Berkeley High School.

Although Supt. Neil V. Sullivan and Principal Emery Curtice discounted the seriousness of the situation in reports to the Berkeley Board of Education at its final May meeting, the California Teachers' Association has warned it will "take appropriate action" unless steps are taken to protect Berkeley teachers.

Special officers already have been hired for campus patrol as result of the warning, which followed a survey by the CTA at request of its Berkeley chapter.

WHAT THE SURVEY disclosed was reported confidentially to school board and superintendent under the title, "Verbal and Physical Abuse of Teachers During Hall Duty at Berkeley High School." Portions of the report were later made public.

CTA polled Berkeley High faculty members on whether they were subject to unreasonable verbal and physical abuse while on hall duty. Of 69 responding, 56 said they were, six gave qualified answers, only seven replied "no."

Thirty-seven of the teachers advocated hiring outside personnel for hall and campus patrol. Most suggested plainclothes policemen. One wrote: "The administration should hire as many Marines as can be made available. They should be well trained in judo, karate, and gung ho."

Here are some of the teachers' responses, as quoted in the confidential report:

"I CARRY a police whistle on my keys now . . . I am not the only one that has a whistle or alarm protection."

"There are certain hall areas where no woman teacher had better walk alone."

"It is impossible to try to detain students for disciplinary action, as one is taking his life in jeopardy."

"There have been threats to kill me if I did not go easy on my grading . . . The hall duties have consisted of threats to kill me at any time."

There were recurrent references to "hippie teachers," "over-permissive teachers," and "New Left activists" among the faculty who "encourage student rebellion" and "do everything they can to undermine and discredit the police."

There were complaints also of lack of adminisraive backing in disciplinary action. One teacher wrote: "The administration is afraid . . . to take a firm stand when the superintendent of schools is for total freedom wtihout responsibility"

"THE BLACKBOARD jungle" is not confined to integrated Berkeley. It is present also in neighboring Oakland, where there have been complaints of failure to integrate schools. The CTA and its parent organization, the National Education Association, have imposed sanctions against the Oakland school board and warned that teachers may refuse to report for work next September if corrective steps are not taken.

A joint NEA-CTA survey committee reported some Oakland teachers demanded the right to strike unruly students without fear of administration reprisal. More, it said, felt the situation might be corrected by improved counseling, curriculum changes, smaller classes, and "greater community understanding and financial support."

The committee said the Oakland administration listed 30 actual assaults on teachers in only part of a year. "Victims had frightening memories of violence, and many teachers expressed fear of violence," it related.

One principal was quoted as saying the situation is worse in "the hills" where white students predominate than in the schools that are 75 per cent Negro. Another principal, with 2,000 students in a school designed for 1,200, said he felt he was "sitting on a keg of dynamite."

The Oakland survey report that CTA made public contained no mention of "New Left activists" among the faculties.
